Patty captured, reunited with parents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Her long and violent journey into the underground at an end, Patricia Hearst sent a message to her radical comrades today that her revolutionary zeal remained unchecked.

"Tell everybody that she's smiling, that she feels free and strong and sends her greetings to the brothers and sisters out there," said her attorney, Terrence Hallinan.

As the details of events leading up to her sudden capture began to emerge, Miss Hearst and two of her comrades in arms, William and Emily Harris, were returned to the federal building here for their second court appearances in as many days.

After spending the night in a county jail south of here, where she met her parents for the first time sine her kidnap and conversion by the Symbionese Liberation Army, Miss Hearst and the Harrises were transported back to the city in a tightly guarded auto caravan.

FBI officials stressed the capture was the product of solid investigation, not luck, although one agent familiar with the case said that it was not known in advance that Miss Hearst actually would be inside the residence raided by police and the FBI on Thursday.

"She was happy ... she really wants to come home," Randolph A. Hearst said after he and his wife visited their daughter at a county jail in nearby Redwood City, where she is being held on bank robbery and other charges.

"We told her we loved her and hugged her and kissed her," Catherine Hearst told reporters at the jail. "We just said we loved each other."

The most intensive fugitive hunt in the nation's history came to a swift conclusion Thursday with the capture of Miss Hearst and three fellow radicals. It had been 19 months since she had seen the parents she reviled for their wealth after apparently joining the militant band that kidnaped her.

Asked if he would put up the bail money to free his 21-year-old daughter, Hearst replied, "I think so."

Terrence Hallinan, attorney for the newspaper heiress who was kidnaped by members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army on Feb. 4, 1974, said he would seek reduction of the $1,050,000 bail at a hearing today.

An FBI official in California said, meanwhile, that the sudden and dramatic capture of the heiress-turned-terrorist came unexpectedly when police and FBI agents went to a house here seeking someone else in connection with the Hearst investigation. Miss Hearst and her comrades were arrested without resistance, officers said.

However, a spokesman for the FBI in Washington disputed that report. He said agents "had reasonable basis to believe that Patty Hearst was in the Morse Street house in San Francisco when she was apprehended."

An FBI agent in Sacramento said agents were looking for an unidentified person linked to the SLA and had no idea Miss Hearst or her fugitive companions were there.

Miss Hearst and a radical companion were arrested by two policemen and two FBI agents, one of the arresting officers said.

San Francisco police officer Tim Casey said he and FBI agent Tom Padden went up the back stairs to the third-floor apartment while his partner and another FBI agent went up the front stairs.

Casey said Miss Hearst's companion, radical Wendy Yoshimura, came to the door first "and saw us in the window."

"Padden told her to freeze," Casey said. "Patty came up behind her.

"Then they both bolted back. Padden shouted for them to 'Freeze! Get over here and open the door.'"

Casey said that when Miss Yoshimura opened the door, Miss Hearst turned around, and he said: "Patty! Don't make a move. 'All right,' she said."

He quoted her as saying: "Don't shoot, I'll go with you."

Casey said he asked her if she had a gun. "She said, 'Yes, in the purse in the bedroom.'"

Casey added, "I asked her if she was glad it was over, and she didn't say a word."

When Miss Hearst was booked into jail, she listed her occupation as "urban guerrilla," a sheriff's sergeant said.

At the San Mateo County Jail, 35 miles south of here, where Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris were taken following arraignment, another inmate said the newspaper heiress answered a question as to how she was caught by saying, "I wish to hell I knew."

"I said, 'It's been a long time since we've seen you,'" Evelyn Broussard said. "And she said, 'I wish it had been longer.'"

"We were just sitting there and two policemen just came through the door," Mrs. Brous-

Cyclist killed

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A Jackson man was killed at 10:35 p.m. Thursday .3 mile south of town at the junction of Highways 61 and 74 when he was thrown from the motorcycle he was driving, the highway patrol said today. The death raised the fatality toll on Southeast Missouri roads this year to 85, the same number for the same period in 1974.

Killed was Joseph Lester Biri, 39, of Jackson, who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Francis Hospital.

The body was taken to Cracraft-Miller Funeral Home in Jackson.

The accident occurred when Biri's motorcycle ran off the right side of the road on a curve and struck a guard rail, throwing him from the vehicle.

Wolsey is new patrolman

Jerry Don Wolsey, 23, of 515 Carroll Ave., was sworn in this morning as a patrolman for the Sikeston Police Department.

Wolsey was employed as a truck driver before joining the police department. He and his wife Debra recently moved to Sikeston.

He is a graduate of Central High School in Cape Girardeau and lived in Cape Girardeau for 10 years where he was employed by Guardian Security Police.

Bob Davis resigned from the police force Thursday to join a private business.

3 hurt on Sikeston streets

Three local residents received minor injuries in two traffic accidents Thursday and this morning, Sikeston police reported today.

Two people received minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident at 8:08 a.m. today during the heavy rainstorm on East Malone Avenue at the intersection with South Ingram Road.

The accident occurred when a truck driven by Alfred John Proffer, 57, of 310 Powers Drive pulled from South Ingram Street into the path of an eastbound car on East Malone Avenue, driven by David Elmer Roger, 17, of 621 Hart St. and the two cars collided.

Loretta Carole Roger, 13, of 621 Hart St., a passenger in the Roger vehicle was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital by ambulance, where she was treated and released. Proffer was checked for a sore neck.

A 3-year-old Sikeston boy received minor injuries when he was struck by a car at 6:16 p.m. Thursday on West North Street.

Christopher Wiggins, 3, of 1502 W. North St. apparently ran out into the street and was struck by a westbound car driven by Otis Davis Morris, 21, of 212 Dixie St.

The boy was treated and released at missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Heavy rainstorms in Sikeston mean lots of water and flooded streets, such as the city experienced this morning. Considering the long-running movie, "Jaws", which just closed Thursday night, it was just too tempting not to put the flooded streets and movie together with our own version of the shark (alias one cardboard fin attached to a board). For motorists driving by as the picture was being taken, especially for those who had seen the movie, it must have been quite a sight. More of a "sight" though was probably Daily Standard photographer Rick Morein trying to get the picture in the rain.

Scoggins gets 3 years

BENTON — Timmy L. Scoggins of Eloral, Ark., was ordered committed to three years in custody of the State Department of Corrections for manslaughter during Scott County Circuit Court proceedings Thursday by Judge Marshall Craig.

Scoggins had pleaded guilty on July 3 to driving an automobile which collided with a car driven by Mrs. Sharon Ryles of Arbyrd.

The case was tried in Scott County on a change of venue from Dunklin County.

The accident which occurred on June 23, 1974 on Highway 25 between the Arkansas state line and Cardwell, killed Mrs. Ryles and two of five passengers in her car, Belly Hill of the Hollywood community and a young boy, Lindy Chilton of Arbyrd.

During the trial it was determined that Scoggins had been drinking and had stopped at a tavern near the state line where he was refused service because of his intoxicated condition. He then headed north toward Cardwell and the accident happened 1.2 miles from the tavern. His car was in the wrong lane when it collided with the Ryles car.

In another change of venue case from Butler County, Larry Bucky Whitt of Poplar Bluff pleaded not guilty to a charge of felonious assault and a jury trial was set for Sept. 23 in Scott County Circuit Court.

Morley festival opens tonight

MORLEY — The Morley Fall Festival will begin today at 7 p.m. with an old- fashioned box supper at the community building and a men's beauty contest at 8 p.m.

Tonight's activities will end with gospel music provided by The Soul Crusaders from Cape Girardeau, a group invited to return after performing at last year's festival.

Saturday activities will start with a parade at 11 a.m. with prizes to be awarded in float and bicycle decoration competition. A variety of games will be in progress all day.

At 2 p.m., the Morley Fire Department will engage in competition with fire departments from surrounding communities.

The judging of the Little Mister and Little Miss Fall Festival contest will begin at 4:30 p.m. followed at 6 p.m. by the Fall Festival Queen contest. All queen contestents this year are from out of town.

At 7:30 p.m., a fashion show of handmade and readymade designs with a bicentennial style will be held.

The evenings activities will conclude with a dance starting at 8:30 p.m.

The festival is sponsored by the Community Betterment Association.

August consumer price increase lowest in 3 years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose only two-tenths of 1 per cent in August, the smallest monthly rise in inflation in three years, the government reported today.

Projected on a yearly basis, the figure for last month would indicate an annual inflation rate of only 2.4 per cent.

The administration registered surprise at the figure and expressed doubt that it would indicate a trend. Government analysts said it was to soon to tell if a trend was beginning.

But the August price report was welcome news following July's explosive 1.2 per cent jump in retail prices and an eight-tenths of 1 per cent increase in June.

"Obviously this two-tenths of 1 per cent figure is lower than we expected and we do not expect that rate to be sustained," White House Deputy Press Secretary William Greener said.

"The underlying rate of inflation is a good deal higher...and just as we considered the June and July CPI to be an aberration on the high side, we consider the August figure to be an aberration on the low side," Greener said.

With the moderation of inflation last month, wage earners also saw their first increase in real spendable earnings in three months. Real earnings over the past year also were up for the first time in any year-to-year period in more than two years.

Food prices, which rose sharply in June and July, showed no increase last month, a factor which held down the over-all rise in consumer prices, the Labor Department said.

The government said lower prices for beef, fresh vegetables, cereal and bakery products slowed the rise in food prices. The decline in beef prices was the first in five months.

Price increases for commodities other than food, including used cars, gasoline and other energy products, increased five tenths of 1 per cent in August, smaller than the nine tenths of 1 per cent rise in July and within the range of monthly increases during the firstf of the year.

The cost of services also rose five tenths of 1 per cent in August, about the same as the average monthly increase throughout the year.

Economists regard the non-food commodity portion of the consumer price index as a more accurate measure of inflation because the highly volatile food sector often fluctuates sharplz from month to month.

P'ville water rates going up

PORTAGEVILLE--An increase in the city's water rates, beginning with the November billing, has been announced by Mayor Don Rone, who cited inflationary costs as the primary reason for the increase.

Rone stated that the cost of chemicals has more than doubled, repair costs have doubled and labor costs have increased. The water department has shown a $200 per month deficit and, over the last eight months all reserve funds in the department have been used, Rone said.

The City Council has authorized City Attorney Charles Spitler to prepare an ordinance raising the water rates by 30 per cent over the present rates, which were established in 1970.

All other rate levels will be increased by 30 per cent, except the charge for over 100,000 gallons, currently two cents per 100 gallons, which will be increased 50 per cent to three cents per 100 gallons.

The current minimum rate of $2 for up to 2,500 gallons will be increased to $2.60 under the new rate.

Sikeston woman robbed

Between $800 and $1,000 was taken from a Sikeston businesswoman in a strong-armed robbery about 9 p.m. Thursday in the Kingsway Plaza Mall parking lot.

Genevieve Lathum of Canalou, owner of Sikeston Fabric, Center, reported to police that she was walking from the mall to her car shortly after 9 p.m. when a black male came up, hit her on the shoulder and grabbed her purse. She said the purse contained about $800 to $1,000.

She chased the subject up South New Madrid Street until she fell and scratched her hands. She then returned to the mall and called police, who searched the area but found no suspects. The investigation is continuing.

Mrs. Lathum was treated in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for the scratches on her hands.

Sikeston police also today reported the apparent attempted theft of a television set from the Katherine Cossey home at 731 Greer St.

The owner reported that when she returned home about 7 p.m. Thursday, she discovered the television set on the back porch. Nothing else was reported missing from the house.

Cape argues

Sikeston, Bluff should pay more

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Cape Girardeau residents would pay "$405,101 more than their share of revenues per year" under a rate increase requested by the Missouri Utilities Co., the state Public Service Commission was told Thursday.

"The results of my study indicate that customers in the Cape Girardeau service area are being subjected to substantial discrimination that is in favor of the customers in the rest of the southeast Missouri area," said William H. Ford, a Kirkwood engineer and consultant.

Ford was called to testify before the five-member commission to back up Cape Girardeau's contention that its residents pay comparably higher electric rates than cities with smaller populations. His testimony came as the PSC was in its fourt day of formal hearings on gas, electric and water rate increases requested by Missouri Utilities.

"The Poplar Bluff and Sikeston service areas are not compact and should have higher cost of service than other cities of similar size where no competition exists," Ford said in his written testimony.

He said Missouri Utilities should either increase rates in those two cities or expand their businesses there to make it more profitable.

Missouri Utilities uses three rates for customers in southeast Missouri. One is for cities of more than 2,500 persons, another for towns of less than 2,500 and a third for rual areas. Ford's contention is that since the Cape Girardeau service area is more compact and has the largest population its rate should be lower than other communities, since the cost of delivering electricity is lower.

John L. Oliver Jr., the utility's lawyer, disagreed with Ford, saying there were other factors than just the cost of service which determine electric rates.

Several southeast Missouri communities sent attorneys to the PSC hearings to oppose the Cape Girardeau position, fearing that if the commission agreed with it, electric rates in those towns would be increased.

Thomas L. Arnold was present to represent Scott City, Oran, Benton and Kelso. Delta and Chaffee were represented by Joseph Perry Rice.

Missouri Utilities has opposed the inclusion of the discrimination issie in the rate increase request, contending that is a separate issue and should be heard on a separate docket.

The Cape Girardeau based firm has requested increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its southeast division, $885,431 from gas service in its central division, $480,664 from gas service in its southeast division and $185,000 frm water service in Cape Girardeau. The commission has suspended those increase requests.

But they include increases of $1.4 million in electric revenues and $42,000 in gas revenues in the southeast division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the central division that were allowed by the PSC to go into effect June 23.

The utility's southeast division includes Bollinger, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Dunkling, Mississippi, New Madrid, Saline, Scott and Stoddard counties.

Water service is provided only in the city of Cape Girardeau.

The central division covers Boone, Cooper, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Pettis counties.

Sikeston woman robbed

Between $800 and $1,000 was taken from a Sikeston businesswoman in a strong-armed robbery about 9 p.m. Thursday in the Kingsway Plaza Mall parking lot.

Genevieve Lathum of Canalou, owner of Sikeston Fabric, Center, reported to police that she was walking from the mall to her car shortly after 9 p.m. when a black male came up, hit her on the shoulder and grabbed her purse. She said the purse contained about $800 to $1,000.

She chased the subject up South New Madrid Street until she fell and scratched her hands. She then returned to the mall and called police, who searched the area but found no suspects. The investigation is continuing.

Mrs. Lathum was treated in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for the scratches on her hands.

Sikeston police also today reported the apparent attempted theft of a television set from the Katherine Cossey home at 731 Greer St.

The owner reported that when she returned home about 7 p.m. Thursday, she discovered the television set on the back porch. Nothing else was reported missing from the house.

Cape argues

Sikeston, Bluff should pay more

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Cape Girardeau residents would pay "$405,101 more than their share of revenues per year" under a rate increase requested by the Missouri Utilities Co., the state Public Service Commission was told Thursday.

"The results of my study indicate that customers in the Cape Girardeau service area are being subjected to substantial discrimination that is in favor of the customers in the rest of the southeast Missouri area," said William H. Ford, a Kirkwood engineer and consultant.

Ford was called to testify before the five-member commission to back up Cape Girardeau's contention that its residents pay comparably higher electric rates than cities with smaller populations. His testimony came as the PSC was in its fourt day of formal hearings on gas, electric and water rate increases requested by Missouri Utilities.

"The Poplar Bluff and Sikeston service areas are not compact and should have higher cost of service than other cities of similar size where no competition exists," Ford said in his written testimony.

He said Missouri Utilities should either increase rates in those two cities or expand their businesses there to make it more profitable.

Missouri Utilities uses three rates for customers in southeast Missouri. One is for cities of more than 2,500 persons, another for towns of less than 2,500 and a third for rual areas. Ford's contention is that since the Cape Girardeau service area is more compact and has the largest population its rate should be lower than other communities, since the cost of delivering electricity is lower.

John L. Oliver Jr., the utility's lawyer, disagreed with Ford, saying there were other factors than just the cost of service which determine electric rates.

Several southeast Missouri communities sent attorneys to the PSC hearings to oppose the Cape Girardeau position, fearing that if the commission agreed with it, electric rates in those towns would be increased.

Thomas L. Arnold was present to represent Scott City, Oran, Benton and Kelso. Delta and Chaffee were represented by Joseph Perry Rice.

Missouri Utilities has opposed the inclusion of the discrimination issie in the rate increase request, contending that is a separate issue and should be heard on a separate docket.

The Cape Girardeau based firm has requested increases in gross annual revenues of $5,267,227 from electric service in its southeast division, $885,431 from gas service in its central division, $480,664 from gas service in its southeast division and $185,000 frm water service in Cape Girardeau. The commission has suspended those increase requests.

But they include increases of $1.4 million in electric revenues and $42,000 in gas revenues in the southeast division, and $260,000 in gas revenues in the central division that were allowed by the PSC to go into effect June 23.

The utility's southeast division includes Bollinger, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Dunkling, Mississippi, New Madrid, Saline, Scott and Stoddard counties.

Water service is provided only in the city of Cape Girardeau.

The central division covers Boone, Cooper, Miller, Moniteau, Morgan and Pettis counties.

THE COMING OF AUTUMN

September marks the beginning of that crisp, invigorating Autumn Season when the lazy days of summer must give way to school, football, the carving of jack-o-lanterns and, for lawn-owners, the inevitable ranking of leaves. Soon, swarms of little ones will be splashing through mudpuddles and chortling over newly-found treasures such as a bird's nest or a leaf that crackles like a potato chip when it is crushed. As we watch the innocence of childhood in action, we should try to regain some of the inquisitiveness and wonder which we felt when we were young. We must never be so busy that we cannot take the time to enjoy the simple things in life, such as a colorful sunset or the beauties of a hillside dressed in the brilliant finery of autumn leaves.

So, as we prepare for the faster tempo of this new season, let's keep a receptive and appreciative eye out for the beauties of God's handiwork all around us.

Canines are in the news, which seems appropriate since we are now in the midst of what are called the "dog days." More accurately, a couple of recent stories concern the owners of dogs and what is being done to curb the environmental impact of their permissive attitudes toward their pets.

Item: From Shaker Heights, Ohio, it is reported that a gentleman there has invented something called a Dog Potty for good-neighbor dog-walkers. It's a plastic container on the end of a cane-shaped shaft.

To put a dog more at ease, the container is shaped like a miniature fire hydrant, and for the convenience of night-time dog-walkers, there's a flashlight attached to the hand grip.

The inventor, William L. Schmieler, says he got the idea a few years ago when a woman threw a rock at him for letting his dog make use of her lawn. Since then, Shaker Heights has passed an ordinance requiring dog owners to cleanup after their pets.

Item: From France comes the news that the city of Paris is about to begin the construction of the world's first public flush toilets for dogs. Sanitation officials will soon begin installing the roofless, concrete structures, complete with flowers and perfume, at key locations throughout the city — evidently something like the famous relief stations for male human Parisians, which have largely disappeared.

According to the wire report, all a dog will have to do is sniff its way inside one of the "vespachiennes," as they will be called, and let nature take its course. Then the owner will simply press a button and flush away what has been a controversial issue, as it has in many American cities.

Dare one hope that dog owners will eventually get the message that, although the world may perpetually be going to the dogs, it doesn't yet belong to them?

PANAMA CANAL COLLISION

In Panama, General Omar Torrijos came to power seven years ago in a coup. He has gained rural support, and he also manipulates some 24,000 "students" concentrated in urban areas. The Torrijos regime is demanding "effective sovereignty immediately" over the Canal and Zone, plus a rapid phase-out of U.S. military activity. These demands receive strong support from much of the Third World and from Russia.

The U.S. standard of living in the Zone arouses envious passions. The U.S. has invested $7 billion in the Zone, and by Panamanian standards this is a rich prize.

Beginning in 1964, the U.S. signified that renegotiation of the Canal treaty would be acceptable, and during recent months the State Department has moved far toward agreeing to effective Panamanian sovereignty. State Department spokesmen, including negotiator Ellsworth Bunker, have been threatening that any interruption of this process will bring about "another Vietnam" in Panama. Though Panama has only 1.6 million people, intervention in some form by the Soviet Union and-or Cuba, plus Latin American guerrillas, cannot be excluded.

On June 26, the House voted 246 to 164 to prohibit any funds in the State Department appropriation from being used to negotiate the surrender of U.S. rights in the Zone. The U.S. Constitution, moreover, requires House concurrence in order to give up U.S. property or territory. In the Senate, a resolution has been signed by 38 senators against giving up U.S. rights in the Zone. Public opinion polls show 5 to 1 support for U.S. ownership.

Strategic experts consider the real issue is not whether the U.S. or Panama controls the Canal, but whether the U.S. or the Soviet Union does. Panamanian governments are inherently unstable, and the Torrijos regime is no exception. Were the Canal to pass under Torrijos' control tomorrow, the Soviet Union would begin immediately to exploit Panananian politics. Others can manipulate those 24,000 students. Torrijos would cooperate--or else his successor would.

In Washington, the coming crunch pits State Department and Kissinger against Congress, Defense Department, and public opinion. This is not a crunch from which Kissinger is likely to emerge intact.

Joint sovereignty, plus a powerful U.S. military presence in perpetuity, might provide the framework for a reasonable settlement. But not in the world as it is. Torrijos, egged on by his so-called students and by the Soviets, has made the Canal an "imperialist" issue.

A tough defense of U.S. rights in the Canal Zone therefore might be a good way of drawing the line against this and other Third World and Soviet-backed claims against the West. The U.S. has obligations, not only in its own self-interest, but with regard to international legality--not to mention freedom of international waterways.

Nor is Panama really--with whatever outside support--in a very good position to undertake a military confrontation with the U.S.

HE MADE A WISE CHOICE

Here's a story for fathers who are planning careers for their youthful sons. In 1856 there lived in London an eighteen- year- old boy, William Perkin. His father wanted him to be an architect, but the boy was "crazy" about chemistry. As young as he was, he became instructor in chemistry in the Royal College of Science. When he wasn't teaching classes he was at home puttering with chemicals in a backroom lab - to the disgust of his parents.

He tackled the problem of making quinine synthetically from coal tar. One evening, after a whole day's futile labor, he had only a beaker of dirty aniline oil to show for it. What stopped him from tossing the liquid into the sink.. Perhaps he thought the vessel could be more easily cleaned by diluting the oil with alcohol. At any rate, he added alcohol to it, and behold, it turned a deep, beautiful purple! Unwittingly, he had made the first synthetic coal tar dye.

Within the following eighty years Perkin's chance discovery revolutionized the chemical industry , and led to developments of incalculable benefit to mankind.

Today a thousand lovely dyes are synthetically produced, to delight the eye. The lowly coal tar has also been made to yield a variety of exquisite perfumes and flavorings, and important medicines, having power to destroy bacteria, and to relieve pain and fever. As some rhymester expresses it --

You can make anything,
from a salve to a star,
If you only know how,
from black coal tar.

Eighteen years after Perkin's discovery, and with the aid of his dyes, Koch, the German physician, saw and identified the tubercle bacillus, thereby blazing a trail for vitally important discoveries in bacteriology; for bacteria can be distinguished under the microscope only by staining the speciments containing them with aniline dyes.

All these things - of such consequence to human happiness and health - came about because an eighteen-year- old boy became a chemist instead of an architect!

QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Our traveling correspondent reports that every day Soviet radio stations barrage Western audiences with denunciations of capitalism and bourgeois democracy. And every day Western radio stations broadcast messages to a captive audience behind the Iron Curtain. But in recent weeks there have been reports that this battle of the air waves may end with Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty becoming casualties of detente.

For years the Soviet Union has demanded that Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty be silenced. Previous to the European Security Conference, the Soviets redoubled their efforts, obviously anticipating that the West would use the stations to take advantage of the provision in the agreement which calls for a freer exchange of information. According to the Christian Science Monitor, "Moscow would like to see all foreign broadcasts subordinated to governmental agreements in which the West would promise not to permit the flow of information objectionable to the East...Only what serves 'detente and European peace should be permitted in Western broadcasts.'"

The stations have other enemies besides the Soviet Union. In 1971 a disgruntled employe told liberal Senator Clifford Case that the stations were funded not by a private organization, as was claimed, but by the CIA. After the ensuing uproar, a presidential commission recommended that the stations be continued, but that Congress should assume responsibility for their funding. In the past five years, congressional frugality has forced the stations to reduce staff by about 30 per cent. And Congress has yet to approve next year's budget requests.

Congressional liberals have made no secret of their belief that the stations are relics of the cold war. if the liberals can't be persuaded to approve next year's budget, the people of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe will be given another reminder of the West's declining interest in them.

COMICS

It appeared in the news sections of state newspapers, but should have been in the comic section. We're speaking of information on the activity of the Missouri Governor's Club.

In case you aren't knowledgeable about the organization, it's basically the same as the Democrat colonels...only considerably more limited and apparently more exclusive.

The humorous part of the whole thing is Governor Bond wormed his way to office mainly by being critical of the Democrats and their colonels. yet, news media reports tell us a good percentage of the 340 members have been appointed to state posts, boards and the like or been given preference for state business.

So, we must assume by this information, that Governor Bond, despite his desired lily-white public relations, has succumbed to a principal political fact, whether he chooses to admit it or not.

The same report noted many of the state appointments were quickly followed by membership in the club by the appointee. Either this was the case or an individual became a member of the $100 to $200 range club shortly before being tapped by Kit for a post in state government.

We don't find a lot of fault with the practice, but are highly critical of the governor's continued effort to hold himself above such doings. After all, you can't overlook the $58,430 coming into his campaign fund since November of last year as a result of club memberships.

One club member questioned by a Springfield reporter commented, "Don't try to make anything of it." We suspicion there will be plenty "made of it" in months to come. Kit Bond has once again been caught red handed conducting himself like a lot of other politicians. The only difference is, others acknowledge the facts of life.

Perhaps this is where a rumored split in the state GOP will really widen. It's no secret old-line Republicans aren't happy with the Bond administration.

NATION OF CAPITALISTS

Mr. William Chapman of the Los Angeles Times-Washington Post Service devoted a recent feature to a study sponsored by the peoples Policy Center which purports to show great concentration of wealth in the top 5 percent of the American population. Confiscatory taxation and such things as abolition of private land ownership were suggested among other proposals for redistributing the wealth, and it appears that anyone with a net worth of more than $60,000 is likely to be suspect and exposed to sharing-the-wealth plans.

Sponsors of this latest study of wealth fail to explain how, if all the wealth is concentrated in the pockets of so few people, this country can consume so much of the Earth's resources. Who owns the countless millions of television sets, over 100 million autos, the millions of vacation homes, recreational campers, home freezers and appliances that people in other lands have never ever seen, let alone used? Who has created the seller's market in everything from porterhouse steaks to outboard engines?

It has not been the top five percent of American citizens. It has been the average American family which has long enjoyed a level of abundance unlike any that ever existed before for a great majority of a nation's people--a nation in which virtually everyone is a capitalist.

Newest Coupon Clippers: Report billion dollar annual food stamp ripoff by non-poor families alone

WASHINGTON — Few realize the Department of Agriculture has a secret intelligence service all its own – and if the specialists in its office of audits and office of investigations would say publicly what some have whispered privately they would be shouting that the food stamp system is virtually out of control.

At least $1 billion a year is being ripped off through fraud, ineligibility, insouciant errors and sheer waste.

Mind you, this is merely part of the looting. Investigation has just disclosed that the lost billion is only in the non-welfare, non-publicly assisted families such as families with dependent children.

The lost billion, therefore, is only half the story. It's the money calmly ripped from the government through conspiracy or by able-bodied men and women who just won't work, or by students, or by families which have an annual income of up to $11,000 (and sometimes slightly more). Their breadwinners can own cars, homes, personal property, bank accounts, and hold vital jobs. They include teachers, some police, skilled craftsmen and white-collar workers.

They draw food stamps because of a complex income formula, which includes specific cost deductions from their earnings (children, etc.). These deductions put their income below an arbitrary foodand diet line.

It has just been learned that 17.3 per cent of non-poor, non-welfare food stamp recipients simply are ineligible!

And another 26 per cent are "overissued." Meaning overpaid.

Thus 43.3 per cent are receiving food stamps illegally.

Translated into dollars, I'm told this means that almost 26 per cent of all the money spent in the non-poor and non-welfare food stamp assistance is stolen. Or wasted.

How? It's the Health Education and Welfare Department story retold in terms of the Agriculture Department, which administers the food stamp division. It took several years for this column to force wide investigations in welfare and medicaid and to discover that several billions of dollars a year are being looted from the actual cash payout welfare system itself.

Now that the welfare section is under heavy investigation, the time has come for the spotlight to scorch the Agriculture Department. Such new probes will show heavy outpouring of stamps to non-welfare families (non-poor) which go in for crooked accounting; duplicate applications by husband and wife; borrowing of children; students who believe that the old waiting-on-tables tradition went out with goldfish swallowing; food stores which deal in counterfeit and ineligibles' coupons; merchants who take food stamps as payment for debts and installments, and even underground revolutionary cells which supply them to communes along with false identities.

The enormity of this cynical food stamp thievery -- remember, all this is in the non-welfare sector -- so angered President Ford recently that he summoned his cabinet for a special session Aug. 28 to whip its members into a war on this social fraud.

Only the word "enormous" can be used to describe the thievery. First, know that the original Kennedy-era food stamp program started with $36 million. It fed some 500,000 claimants.

Today the projected 1976 fiscal year total cost is $6.8 billion. And still leaping like a lonely downriver salmon. For example, in 1974's first six months, there were 13.5 million food stamp program participants. By last December, six months later, this had rocketed to 17 million. Today the count is 19.6 million food coupon clippers, soon to top 20 million recipients.

The mismanagement of the program has a Gilbert and Sullvan touch -- if it all weren't so tragic during this crisis of bankrupt cities and the New York-ish trend of the national budget.

Let me tell you about Massachusetts: a new audit discloses that at least 50 per cent of the Bay State's food stamp households showed up ineligible. And 30.4 per cent were overissued (overpaid). Thus 80.4 per cent of the cases are simply ripoffs.

And another 13 per cent are underissued (underpaid). So 93.4 per cent of all cases are in error.

True, other states have lower rates of error and thievery. But it's all very costly to administer. Nationally, the office tab is almost half a billion dollars. Half is paid by the federal government.

None of this, of course, relates to what error there may be in the actual welfare families' errors and ripoffs. The above refers only to the non-poor. Yet the "anti-hunger" forces are pushing for a self-certification application. No check on figures. Just hand out the food stamps. This would makethe system more chaotic. Now the used coupons go the Federal Reserve system, which gives them a fast count and charges the Treasury Department forthe stamps. Everything gets a fast count.

And when it's over the working citizenry pays and pays. Taxes increase. National budget deficits increase. So does the number of able-bodied persons who pay with food stamps at the checkout counters at a thousand supermarkets.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Nuclear Fallout Linked to Cancer

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The fallout from the nuclear testing in the late 1950s and early 1960s may be causing a belated epidemic of lung cancer in the northern hemisphere. The United States, for example, has had a dramatic increase in lung cancer cases.

In a chilling new study, respected researcher Dr. John Gofman warns that the lung cancer epidemic could be severely aggravated by the growth of the nuclear power industry.

The plutonium fallout from past nuclear explosions is having a deadly impact today, according to Dr. Gofman's theory, because of a 13- to 15-year latent period before the effects become evident.

Since most of the atmospheric testing was done in the late 1950s and early 1960s, the latent period is ending now. "For the USA alone," declared Dr. Gofman, "it is estimated that 116,000 persons have been committed to plutonium-induced lung cancer. In the entire northern hemisphere, the total number is 1,000,000 persons."

He contends grimly that the fallout "may have already created, irreversibly, one of he prime health problems of our era." The plutonium from nuclear power plant, he warns, will increasé the menace to future generations.

Even if the nuclear power industry "contains its plutonium 99.99 per cent perfectly," he predicts, "it will still be responsible for 500,000 additional fatal lung cancers annually. This would mean increasing the total death rate in the United States by 25 per cent each year, since 2,000,000 persons currently die from all causes combined."

The nuclear industry, which has invested billions in the proliferation of nuclear plants throughout the country, has sought to downplay the evidence that plutonium may be linked to cancer.

The industry cites the findings, for example, of Dr. Bernard Cohen of Pittsburgh University. Cohen points out that lung cancer has been increasing since 1945, along before the plutonium could have had an effect.

Most scientists believe the lung cancer epidemic has been caused by increased air pollution, not plutonium, Dr. Cohen asserts. He criticizes Dr. Gofman's basic data and contends that "99 out of 100 experts in the field would not agree" Gofman.

Dr. Gofman's research, howeeer, cannot be lightly dismissed. He is professor emeritus of medical phusics at the University of California.

SECRET PLEDGE: The United States has given Israel a secret commitment that the two nations will work together to block the Palestine Liberation Organization from participating in the Geneva peace conference unless it modifies its attitude toward Israel.

Arab leaders charge that the effect of this agreement will be to sabotage the Middle East peace. They told us that the PLO cannot change its doctrine without losing its followers.

The secret Israe -American accords declare: "The United States will continue to adhere to its present policy with respect to the Palestine Liberation Organization, whereby it will not recognize or negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization so long as the Palestine Liberation Organization does not recognize Israel's right to exist and does not accept Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338."

The first resolution calls for peace in the Middle East with "reorganized" borders; the second sets up the Geneva Conference.

The U.S. also pledges to "consult fully and seek to concert its position and strategy at the Geneva Peace Conference on this issue with the Government of Israel."

Further, the U.S. promises to "make every effort to ensure at the conference that all the substantive negotiations will be on a bilateral basis," which is also an Israeli objective.

DAM RIGHT : President Ford recently expressed high praise for a Montana dam which, as a Congressman, he fought against for 19 years.

While dedicating Libby Dam a few weeks ago, Ford said, "As I look at this structure and know that some $500 million has been spent to build it, I congratulate the Corps of Engineers for spending our tax dollars wisely."

Ford failed to mention, however, that, as a young Congressman, he voted against authorizing the dam in 1950. He voted against appropriations for the dam over the ensuing 19 years. Not until 1969 did Ford vote some construction funds. But by then the dam as already being built.

TV TROUBLES: While the big oil companies blitz the airwaves with image-enhancing ads, consumer groups have trouble getting their messages aired at all.

The Consumer Federation of America recently tried to buy air time at three Washington, D.C. area television stations to run a message urging Congress to override President Ford's veto of the extension of oil price controls. The stations refused, saying the ad was too controversial.

Item: From France comes the news that the city of Paris is about to begin the construction of the world's first public flush toilets for dogs. Sanitation officials will soon begin installing the roofless, concrete structures, complete with flowers and perfume, at key locations throughout the city — evidently something like the famous relief stations for male human Parisians, which have largely disappeared.

According to the wire report, all a dog will have to do is sniff its way inside one of the "vespachiennes," as they will be called, and let nature take its course. Then the owner will simply press a button and flush away what has been a controversial issue, as it has in many American cities.

Dare one hope that dog owners will eventually get the message that, although the world may perpetually be going to the dogs, it doesn't yet belong to them?

PANAMA CANAL COLLISION

In Panama, General Omar Torrijos came to power seven years ago in a coup. He has gained rural support, and he also manipulates some 24,000 "students" concentrated in urban areas. The Torrijos regime is demanding "effective sovereignty immediately" over the Canal and Zone, plus a rapid phase-out of U.S. military activity. These demands receive strong support from much of the Third World and from Russia.

The U.S. standard of living in the Zone arouses envious passions. The U.S. has invested $7 billion in the Zone, and by Panamanian standards this is a rich prize.

Beginning in 1964, the U.S. signified that renegotiation of the Canal treaty would be acceptable, and during recent months the State Department has moved far toward agreeing to effective Panamanian sovereignty. State Department spokesmen, including negotiator Ellsworth Bunker, have been threatening that any interruption of this process will bring about "another Vietnam" in Panama. Though Panama has only 1.6 million people, intervention in some form by the Soviet Union and-or Cuba, plus Latin American guerrillas, cannot be excluded.

On June 26, the House voted 246 to 164 to prohibit any funds in the State Department appropriation from being used to negotiate the surrender of U.S. rights in the Zone. The U.S. Constitution, moreover, requires House concurrence in order to give up U.S. property or territory. In the Senate, a resolution has been signed by 38 senators against giving up U.S. rights in the Zone. Public opinion polls show 5 to 1 support for U.S. ownership.

Strategic experts consider the real issue is not whether the U.S. or Panama controls the Canal, but whether the U.S. or the Soviet Union does. Panamanian governments are inherently unstable, and the Torrijos regime is no exception. Were the Canal to pass under Torrijos' control tomorrow, the Soviet Union would begin immediately to exploit Panananian politics. Others can manipulate those 24,000 students. Torrijos would cooperate--or else his successor would.

In Washington, the coming crunch pits State Department and Kissinger against Congress, Defense Department, and public opinion. This is not a crunch from which Kissinger is likely to emerge intact.

Joint sovereignty, plus a powerful U.S. military presence in perpetuity, might provide the framework for a reasonable settlement. But not in the world as it is. Torrijos, egged on by his so-called students and by the Soviets, has made the Canal an "imperialist" issue.

A tough defense of U.S. rights in the Canal Zone therefore might be a good way of drawing the line against this and other Third World and Soviet-backed claims against the West. The U.S. has obligations, not only in its own self-interest, but with regard to international legality--not to mention freedom of international waterways.

Nor is Panama really--with whatever outside support--in a very good position to undertake a military confrontation with the U.S.

HE MADE A WISE CHOICE

Here's a story for fathers who are planning careers for their youthful sons. In 1856 there lived in London an eighteen- year- old boy, William Perkin. His father wanted him to be an architect, but the boy was "crazy" about chemistry. As young as he was, he became instructor in chemistry in the Royal College of Science. When he wasn't teaching classes he was at home puttering with chemicals in a backroom lab - to the disgust of his parents.

He tackled the problem of making quinine synthetically from coal tar. One evening, after a whole day's futile labor, he had only a beaker of dirty aniline oil to show for it. What stopped him from tossing the liquid into the sink.. Perhaps he thought the vessel could be more easily cleaned by diluting the oil with alcohol. At any rate, he added alcohol to it, and behold, it turned a deep, beautiful purple! Unwittingly, he had made the first synthetic coal tar dye.

Within the following eighty years Perkin's chance discovery revolutionized the chemical industry , and led to developments of incalculable benefit to mankind.

Today a thousand lovely dyes are synthetically produced, to delight the eye. The lowly coal tar has also been made to yield a variety of exquisite perfumes and flavorings, and important medicines, having power to destroy bacteria, and to relieve pain and fever. As some rhymester expresses it --

You can make anything,
from a salve to a star,
If you only know how,
from black coal tar.

Eighteen years after Perkin's discovery, and with the aid of his dyes, Koch, the German physician, saw and identified the tubercle bacillus, thereby blazing a trail for vitally important discoveries in bacteriology; for bacteria can be distinguished under the microscope only by staining the speciments containing them with aniline dyes.

All these things - of such consequence to human happiness and health - came about because an eighteen-year- old boy became a chemist instead of an architect!

QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Our traveling correspondent reports that every day Soviet radio stations barrage Western audiences with denunciations of capitalism and bourgeois democracy. And every day Western radio stations broadcast messages to a captive audience behind the Iron Curtain. But in recent weeks there have been reports that this battle of the air waves may end with Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty becoming casualties of detente.

For years the Soviet Union has demanded that Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty be silenced. Previous to the European Security Conference, the Soviets redoubled their efforts, obviously anticipating that the West would use the stations to take advantage of the provision in the agreement which calls for a freer exchange of information. According to the Christian Science Monitor, "Moscow would like to see all foreign broadcasts subordinated to governmental agreements in which the West would promise not to permit the flow of information objectionable to the East...Only what serves 'detente and European peace should be permitted in Western broadcasts.'"

The stations have other enemies besides the Soviet Union. In 1971 a disgruntled employe told liberal Senator Clifford Case that the stations were funded not by a private organization, as was claimed, but by the CIA. After the ensuing uproar, a presidential commission recommended that the stations be continued, but that Congress should assume responsibility for their funding. In the past five years, congressional frugality has forced the stations to reduce staff by about 30 per cent. And Congress has yet to approve next year's budget requests.

Congressional liberals have made no secret of their belief that the stations are relics of the cold war. if the liberals can't be persuaded to approve next year's budget, the people of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe will be given another reminder of the West's declining interest in them.

COMICS

It appeared in the news sections of state newspapers, but should have been in the comic section. We're speaking of information on the activity of the Missouri Governor's Club.

In case you aren't knowledgeable about the organization, it's basically the same as the Democrat colonels...only considerably more limited and apparently more exclusive.

The humorous part of the whole thing is Governor Bond wormed his way to office mainly by being critical of the Democrats and their colonels. yet, news media reports tell us a good percentage of the 340 members have been appointed to state posts, boards and the like or been given preference for state business.

So, we must assume by this information, that Governor Bond, despite his desired lily-white public relations, has succumbed to a principal political fact, whether he chooses to admit it or not.

The same report noted many of the state appointments were quickly followed by membership in the club by the appointee. Either this was the case or an individual became a member of the $100 to $200 range club shortly before being tapped by Kit for a post in state government.

We don't find a lot of fault with the practice, but are highly critical of the governor's continued effort to hold himself above such doings. After all, you can't overlook the $58,430 coming into his campaign fund since November of last year as a result of club memberships.

One club member questioned by a Springfield reporter commented, "Don't try to make anything of it." We suspicion there will be plenty "made of it" in months to come. Kit Bond has once again been caught red handed conducting himself like a lot of other politicians. The only difference is, others acknowledge the facts of life.

Perhaps this is where a rumored split in the state GOP will really widen. It's no secret old-line Republicans aren't happy with the Bond administration.

NATION OF CAPITALISTS

Mr. William Chapman of the Los Angeles Times-Washington Post Service devoted a recent feature to a study sponsored by the peoples Policy Center which purports to show great concentration of wealth in the top 5 percent of the American population. Confiscatory taxation and such things as abolition of private land ownership were suggested among other proposals for redistributing the wealth, and it appears that anyone with a net worth of more than $60,000 is likely to be suspect and exposed to sharing-the-wealth plans.

Sponsors of this latest study of wealth fail to explain how, if all the wealth is concentrated in the pockets of so few people, this country can consume so much of the Earth's resources. Who owns the countless millions of television sets, over 100 million autos, the millions of vacation homes, recreational campers, home freezers and appliances that people in other lands have never ever seen, let alone used? Who has created the seller's market in everything from porterhouse steaks to outboard engines?

It has not been the top five percent of American citizens. It has been the average American family which has long enjoyed a level of abundance unlike any that ever existed before for a great majority of a nation's people--a nation in which virtually everyone is a capitalist.

Newest Coupon Clippers: Report billion dollar annual food stamp ripoff by non-poor families alone

WASHINGTON — Few realize the Department of Agriculture has a secret intelligence service all its own – and if the specialists in its office of audits and office of investigations would say publicly what some have whispered privately they would be shouting that the food stamp system is virtually out of control.

At least $1 billion a year is being ripped off through fraud, ineligibility, insouciant errors and sheer waste.

Mind you, this is merely part of the looting. Investigation has just disclosed that the lost billion is only in the non-welfare, non-publicly assisted families such as families with dependent children.

The lost billion, therefore, is only half the story. It's the money calmly ripped from the government through conspiracy or by able-bodied men and women who just won't work, or by students, or by families which have an annual income of up to $11,000 (and sometimes slightly more). Their breadwinners can own cars, homes, personal property, bank accounts, and hold vital jobs. They include teachers, some police, skilled craftsmen and white-collar workers.

They draw food stamps because of a complex income formula, which includes specific cost deductions from their earnings (children, etc.). These deductions put their income below an arbitrary foodand diet line.

It has just been learned that 17.3 per cent of non-poor, non-welfare food stamp recipients simply are ineligible!

And another 26 per cent are "overissued." Meaning overpaid.

Thus 43.3 per cent are receiving food stamps illegally.

Translated into dollars, I'm told this means that almost 26 per cent of all the money spent in the non-poor and non-welfare food stamp assistance is stolen. Or wasted.

How? It's the Health Education and Welfare Department story retold in terms of the Agriculture Department, which administers the food stamp division. It took several years for this column to force wide investigations in welfare and medicaid and to discover that several billions of dollars a year are being looted from the actual cash payout welfare system itself.

Now that the welfare section is under heavy investigation, the time has come for the spotlight to scorch the Agriculture Department. Such new probes will show heavy outpouring of stamps to non-welfare families (non-poor) which go in for crooked accounting; duplicate applications by husband and wife; borrowing of children; students who believe that the old waiting-on-tables tradition went out with goldfish swallowing; food stores which deal in counterfeit and ineligibles' coupons; merchants who take food stamps as payment for debts and installments, and even underground revolutionary cells which supply them to communes along with false identities.

The enormity of this cynical food stamp thievery -- remember, all this is in the non-welfare sector -- so angered President Ford recently that he summoned his cabinet for a special session Aug. 28 to whip its members into a war on this social fraud.

Only the word "enormous" can be used to describe the thievery. First, know that the original Kennedy-era food stamp program started with $36 million. It fed some 500,000 claimants.

Today the projected 1976 fiscal year total cost is $6.8 billion. And still leaping like a lonely downriver salmon. For example, in 1974's first six months, there were 13.5 million food stamp program participants. By last December, six months later, this had rocketed to 17 million. Today the count is 19.6 million food coupon clippers, soon to top 20 million recipients.

The mismanagement of the program has a Gilbert and Sullvan touch -- if it all weren't so tragic during this crisis of bankrupt cities and the New York-ish trend of the national budget.

Let me tell you about Massachusetts: a new audit discloses that at least 50 per cent of the Bay State's food stamp households showed up ineligible. And 30.4 per cent were overissued (overpaid). Thus 80.4 per cent of the cases are simply ripoffs.

And another 13 per cent are underissued (underpaid). So 93. 4 per cent of all cases are in error.

True, other states have lower rates of error and thievery. But it's all very costly to administer. Nationally, the office tab is almost half a billion dollars. Half is paid by the federal government.

None of this, of course, relates to what error there may be in the actual welfare families' errors and ripoffs. The above refers only to the non-poor. Yet the "anti-hunger" forces are pushing for a self-certification application. No check on figures. Just hand out the food stamps. This would makethe system more chaotic. Now the used coupons go the Federal Reserve system, which gives them a fast count and charges the Treasury Department forthe stamps. Everything gets a fast count.

And when it's over the working citizenry pays and pays. Taxes increase. National budget deficits increase. So does the number of able-bodied persons who pay with food stamps at the checkout counters at a thousand supermarkets.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Nuclear Fallout Linked to Cancer

with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The fallout from the nuclear testing in the late 1950s and early 1960s may be causing a belated epidemic of lung cancer in the northern hemisphere. The United States, for example, has had a dramatic increase in lung cancer cases.

In a chilling new study, respected researcher Dr. John Gofman warns that the lung cancer epidemic could be severely aggravated by the growth of the nuclear power industry.

The plutonium fallout from past nuclear explosions is having a deadly impact today, according to Dr. Gofman's theory, because of a 13- to 15-year latent period before the effects become evident.

Since most of the atmospheric testing was done in the late 1950s and early 1960s, the latent period is ending now. "For the USA alone," declared Dr. Gofman, "it is estimated that 116,000 persons have been committed to plutonium-induced lung cancer. In the entire northern hemisphere, the total number is 1,000,000 persons."

He contends grimly that the fallout "may have already created, irreversibly, one of he prime health problems of our era." The plutonium from nuclear power plant, he warns, will increasé the menace to future generations.

Even if the nuclear power industry "contains its plutonium 99.99 per cent perfectly," he predicts, "it will still be responsible for 500,000 additional fatal lung cancers annually. This would mean increasing the total death rate in the United States by 25 per cent each year, since 2,000,000 persons currently die from all causes combined."

The nuclear industry, which has invested billions in the proliferation of nuclear plants throughout the country, has sought to downplay the evidence that plutonium may be linked to cancer.

The industry cites the findings, for example, of Dr. Bernard Cohen of Pittsburgh University. Cohen points out that lung cancer has been increasing since 1945, along before the plutonium could have had an effect.

Most scientists believe the lung cancer epidemic has been caused by increased air pollution, not plutonium, Dr. Cohen asserts. He criticizes Dr. Gofman's basic data and contends that "99 out of 100 experts in the field would not agree" Gofman.

Dr. Gofman's research, howeeer, cannot be lightly dismissed. He is professor emeritus of medical phusics at the University of California.

SECRET PLEDGE: The United States has given Israel a secret commitment that the two nations will work together to block the Palestine Liberation Organization from participating in the Geneva peace conference unless it modifies its attitude toward Israel.

Arab leaders charge that the effect of this agreement will be to sabotage the Middle East peace. They told us that the PLO cannot change its doctrine without losing its followers.

The secret Israe -American accords declare: "The United States will continue to adhere to its present policy with respect to the Palestine Liberation Organization, whereby it will not recognize or negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization so long as the Palestine Liberation Organization does not recognize Israel's right to exist and does not accept Security Council Resolutions 242 and 338."

The first resolution calls for peace in the Middle East with "reorganized" borders; the second sets up the Geneva Conference.

The U.S. also pledges to "consult fully and seek to concert its position and strategy at the Geneva Peace Conference on this issue with the Government of Israel."

Further, the U.S. promises to "make every effort to ensure at the conference that all the substantive negotiations will be on a bilateral basis," which is also an Israeli objective.

DAM RIGHT : President Ford recently expressed high praise for a Montana dam which, as a Congressman, he fought against for 19 years.

While dedicating Libby Dam a few weeks ago, Ford said, "As I look at this structure and know that some $500 million has been spent to build it, I congratulate the Corps of Engineers for spending our tax dollars wisely."

Ford failed to mention, however, that, as a young Congressman, he voted against authorizing the dam in 1950. He voted against appropriations for the dam over the ensuing 19 years. Not until 1969 did Ford vote some construction funds. But by then the dam as already being built.

TV TROUBLES: While the big oil companies blitz the airwaves with image-enhancing ads, consumer groups have trouble getting their messages aired at all.

The Consumer Federation of America recently tried to buy air time at three Washington, D.C. area television stations to run a message urging Congress to override President Ford's veto of the extension of oil price controls. The stations refused, saying the ad was too controversial.

CTA discusses leaves with Oran board

ORAN---Three representatives of the Oran Community Teachers Association Velma Gammon, Terry Irby and Carolyn Pendergras, met with the Oran R-3 School District Board of Education Thursday night.

The CTA group asked the board to clarify the definition of an educational leave and if there is a written policy covering such a leave of absence.

Board president Leon Schlitt said that there has only been two such leaves granted in the 12 years he has been on the board and that the leaves were granted because the board felt they would broaden the knowledge of the teacher and provide better knowledge and teaching to the students.

He also stated that at the time the leaves were granted the board had agreed there should be no loss of salary because of the knowledge to be gained by the school.

The CTA representatives stated their organization believes that the leaves should not have been with pay since teachers have ample time in the summer vacation period for such trips.

They asked the board to establish a policy or, if the board requests it, the CTA would check with other school groups and submit two policy drafts for consideration.

The board agreed to wait until drafts have been submitted by the CTA before setting a policy.

Supt. M.V. Smith requested the board provide paid insurance to cover all regular salaried employes such as secretaries, cooks and principals.

He said that at present the school insurance only covers the teachers and that if a secretary wanted the insurance she would first have to join the Missouri State Teachers Association which would cost $20 over the premium.

Smith stated that Oran public schools were among the first to provide the coverage for the teachers but now are far behind other school districts in providing this insurance to the other employes.

Cost of this insurance, if provided, would be $163 per year for each employe covered, he said.

The board tabled Smith's request until the next school year.

Purchase of 12 new uniforms for the girls volleyball team from Charlie Bertrand of Scott City for $150, including lettering, was approved.

Leaders make plans

Association plans activities for retarded

Programs and activities for the year were discussed at a Happy New Year party, which marked the first meeting for the 1975-76 calendar year of the Sikeston Area Association for Retarded Citizens Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The association decided to provide partial funding for a new pool at the Sikeston Diagnostic Center, which will be accessible by wheel chair patients and other persons.

Members also voted to sell buckets of popcorn at the Cotton Carnival, with all proceeds going toward the new pool.

Another project being undertaken by the group is an attempt to get playground equipment for the special education department at Southeast School.

Officers for this year are Lee Marks, president; Jolene Walker, vice president; Linda Norton, secretary; Mildred Marks, treasurer; Bill Paylor, ways and means committee; and Jill Corti, program chairman.

The following monthly programs have been scheduled: October, a program by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts along with a magic show; November, program by Social Security Administration representative; December, old fashioned Christmas; January, "What will happen to my child?" (part one); February, "What will happen to my child?" (part two); March, sheltered workshop program; April, discussion of public assistance, medicade; May, insurance information; June, picnic; and July and August, vacation months.

The association meets at 7:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Purpose of the organization is to promote the general welfare of the mentally retarded, regardeless of race or creed. The program is geared to the parents of retarded childrenand other interested citizens.

County court grants judge fund increase

BENTON — Magistrate Judge Lloyd Briggs met with the Scott County Court Thursday and asked that another part-time employe be hired for his office.

He said his office handles only a few cases less than Cape Girardeau County and that the number of cases handled by his office is increasing.

The County Court told him that the budget he submitted last January would not allow another employe. However, the court said the need of his office was evident and granted a $1,200 increase to his present budget.

In further action, Judge Briggs authorized the County Court to use some prisoners confined to the county jail for minor offenses on road work and said the prisoners would be given three days off their sentences for each day they worked.

He said the time reduction in the s entence is in accordance with laws pertaining to prisoners.

The County Court also increased the food budget for prisoners at the county jail. The sheriff' department had been receiving $1.40 a day to feed prisoner. The increase raised the amount allowed to $1.65 per day.

Grant awarded

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A $395,000 federal grant for a major industrial park expansion project has been awarded to the city of Poplar Bluff.

The funds will be coupled with $295,000 in local money to cover the total $690,000 cost of the development project.

The project will provide for extension of streets, sewer and water lines and a railroad siding to the lower half of the present 210-acre industrial park site.

CTA discusses leaves with Oran board

ORAN---Three representatives of the Oran Community Teachers Association Velma Gammon, Terry Irby and Carolyn Pendergras, met with the Oran R-3 School District Board of Education Thursday night.

The CTA group asked the board to clarify the definition of an educational leave and if there is a written policy covering such a leave of absence.

Board president Leon Schlitt said that there has only been two such leaves granted in the 12 years he has been on the board and that the leaves were granted because the board felt they would broaden the knowledge of the teacher and provide better knowledge and teaching to the students.

He also stated that at the time the leaves were granted the board had agreed there should be no loss of salary because of the knowledge to be gained by the school.

The CTA representatives stated their organization believes that the leaves should not have been with pay since teachers have ample time in the summer vacation period for such trips.

They asked the board to establish a policy or, if the board requests it, the CTA would check with other school groups and submit two policy drafts for consideration.

The board agreed to wait until drafts have been submitted by the CTA before setting a policy.

Supt. M.V. Smith requested the board provide paid insurance to cover all regular salaried employes such as secretaries, cooks and principals.

He said that at present the school insurance only covers the teachers and that if a secretary wanted the insurance she would first have to join the Missouri State Teachers Association which would cost $20 over the premium.

Smith stated that Oran public schools were among the first to provide the coverage for the teachers but now are far behind other school districts in providing this insurance to the other employes.

Cost of this insurance, if provided, would be $163 per year for each employe covered, he said.

The board tabled Smith's request until the next school year.

Purchase of 12 new uniforms for the girls volleyball team from Charlie Bertrand of Scott City for $150, including lettering, was approved.

Leaders make plans

Association plans activities for retarded

Programs and activities for the year were discussed at a Happy New Year party, which marked the first meeting for the 1975-76 calendar year of the Sikeston Area Association for Retarded Citizens Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The association decided to provide partial funding for a new pool at the Sikeston Diagnostic Center, which will be accessible by wheel chair patients and other persons.

Members also voted to sell buckets of popcorn at the Cotton Carnival, with all proceeds going toward the new pool.

Another project being undertaken by the group is an attempt to get playground equipment for the special education department at Southeast School.

Officers for this year are Lee Marks, president; Jolene Walker, vice president; Linda Norton, secretary; Mildred Marks, treasurer; Bill Paylor, ways and means committee; and Jill Corti, program chairman.

The following monthly programs have been scheduled: October, a program by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts along with a magic show; November, program by Social Security Administration representative; December, old fashioned Christmas; January, "What will happen to my child?" (part one); February, "What will happen to my child?" (part two); March, sheltered workshop program; April, discussion of public assistance, medicade; May, insurance information; June, picnic; and July and August, vacation months.

The association meets at 7:30 p.m. the third Thursday of each month at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Purpose of the organization is to promote the general welfare of the mentally retarded, regardeless of race or creed. The program is geared to the parents of retarded childrenand other interested citizens.

County court grants judge fund increase

BENTON — Magistrate Judge Lloyd Briggs met with the Scott County Court Thursday and asked that another part-time employe be hired for his office.

He said his office handles only a few cases less than Cape Girardeau County and that the number of cases handled by his office is increasing.

The County Court told him that the budget he submitted last January would not allow another employe. However, the court said the need of his office was evident and granted a $1,200 increase to his present budget.

In further action, Judge Briggs authorized the County Court to use some prisoners confined to the county jail for minor offenses on road work and said the prisoners would be given three days off their sentences for each day they worked.

He said the time reduction in the s entence is in accordance with laws pertaining to prisoners.

The County Court also increased the food budget for prisoners at the county jail. The sheriff' department had been receiving $1.40 a day to feed prisoner. The increase raised the amount allowed to $1.65 per day.

Grant awarded

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A $395,000 federal grant for a major industrial park expansion project has been awarded to the city of Poplar Bluff.

The funds will be coupled with $295,000 in local money to cover the total $690,000 cost of the development project.

The project will provide for extension of streets, sewer and water lines and a railroad siding to the lower half of the present 210-acre industrial park site.

Too many red blood cells

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have what has been diagnosed as polycythemia. It leaves me very tired and short of breath. Coudl you explain this disorder and comment on its treatment?

DEAR READER — There are several kinds of polycythemia. In all instances, though, it means an increase in the amount of red blood cells in your circulation.

People living at high altitude have one form of polycythemia caused by the low oxygen pressure. The body simply forms more red cells to compensate for less oxygen in the lungs. The amount of increase in red cells is related to the level of altitude. People living at 14,000 feet have quite an increase.

You can get a polycythemia response from lung disease. The chronic lung disease causes a low oxygen level in the lungs, and the body responds much like it does to altitude. This is the basis for saying a person with lung disease is already living at high altitude.

Both high altitude and lung disease cause "secondary polycythemia." I suspect you have polycythemia vera which is "primary polycythemia." No one knows what causes this. It is often associated with an increase in white blood cells, too. About two-thirds of the cases have an enlarged spleen.

It has been demonstrated that you can cause this in mice by infecting them with a particular virus. The mice develop the picture of increased amounts of red cells and an enlarged spleen. Showing that you can do this, though, does not prove that a virus causes polycythemia vera in humans. Just as an anemia can be caused from many different things (iron deficiency, bleeding, vitamin deficiencies to mention a few), it is reasonable that there may be other causes for polycythemia in man. No one has yet proved that any such case in man has been caused by a virus.

A lot of people with polycythemia vera have no symptoms at all. Others have symptoms including being tired and short of breath as you do. The systolic blood pressure may be elevated. The face may be ruddy because of the dilated capillaries. There may be from 7 to 10 million red cells in a milliliter when normally there should be only about 5 million.

One of the mainstays of treatment of this disorder is simply to draw off some of the blood. That usually lets the pressure go down if it is elevated. This is about the only condition in medicine today where it is still believed to be helpful to bleed a person. Bleeding was wrongly thought to be good treatment for many illnesses 200 years ago and is believed to have contributed to George Washington's death.

Sometimes bleeding treatments have to be stopped, because the person may get too low on iron and have an iron deficiency. In these cases it may be necessary to give various chemicals that depress the bone marrow's over production of red cells. There are a number of these medicines available.

Finally in older patients, it is sometimes a good choice to use radioactive phosphorus. This substance slows down the bone marrow considerably and often relieves the problem for a relatively long period of time.

For information on the anemias write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send 50 cents, a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and ask for The Health Letter number 4-3, Understanding the Anemias.

The case of the unfired employe claim

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Ruppert had about as much ambition as a hibernating polar bear. Complacent and unfired, he managed to perform his job with reasonable satisfaction, but with little enthusiasm. And when his employer asked him to work 15 minutes overtime one day, he flinched at the thought and declined the request politely and without explanation — and was fired.

Accepting his unemployment philosophically, Ruppert strolled over to the local unemployment bureau and applied for unemployment benefits. "Sorry, Mac," he was told. "Since you were let go for willful misconduct, you're not qualified."

"What willful misconduct?" queried Ruppert. "You gotta be kidding. I was bounced because I didn't want to work overtime. From 9 to 5, I did everything that was required of me. But, there's no law that says a man must work overtime if he doesn't want to. After all, this is still a free country."

Determined to collect unemployment benefits, Ruppert took his claim to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit unfired Ruppert to collect unemployment benefits?

This is how the judge ruled: NO!

The judge held that "willful misconduct" has been construed to mean a wanton or willful disregard for an employer's interests. By flatly refusing to work for a short period of time, without explanation, noted the judge, Ruppert's conduct was unreasonable and unfriendly to his employer's interests.

An employer, concluded the judge, is entitled to a degree of loyalty and willingness to work above and beyond the call of duty.

Based upon a 1959 Pennsylvania Superior Coiurt Decision

It's the law!

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Last-minute adjournment rushes by state lawmakers in scattered areas of the country have resulted in legislative goofs involving everything from traffic regulations to divorce settlements.

An Associated Press spot check on Monday showed that in most cases, the inadvertently passed bills have been quickly repealed, amended or overturned by legal rulings.

Oklahoma's attorney general, for example, says he expects to rule that a recently passed bill involving divorce settlements is unconstitutional. Unless someone challenges the ruling — and no such challenge is expected — the bill won't be enforced.

The Oklahoma legislators, in an apparent bow to the women's liberation movement, were trying to make it possible for a woman to resume use of her maiden name after a divorce.

In amending the bill, however, they wound up saying that a wife also "shall be restored ... to all the property, lands, tenements, hereditaments owned by either party before marriage or acquired by either party in their own right after such marriage..."

That means the woman gets everything.

(Hereditament is a legal term referring to propertythat can be inherited.)

The governor, apparently unaware of the mixup, signed the bill.

Oregon legislators are meeting Tuesday in a special session to fix a law that closed all police records to press and public. The lawmakers intended to pass a law preventing police agencies from keeping political and religious files on people and making some records confidential. As in Oklahoma, amendments during the closing days of the session, went too far.

The Nebraska legislature wanted to pass a law giving local governments authority to contract with private firms to provide hot meals for the elderly. The bill accidentally gave local governments almost unlimited authority to contract to spend tax dollars. The error was caught while the bill was still on the governor's desk and the measure was sent back to the legislature for amendment.

North Carolina legislators spent the opening days of this year's general assembly session trying to straighten out a 1974 goof involving right turns and red lights.

Here's what happened: the 1974 legislature adopted a measure allowing motorists to make right turns on red lights after stopping. It took effect July 1 last year. At the same time, however, the lawmakers were revising the state's overall traffic code and they failed to include the right-turn provision. The new code took effect Jan. 1, 1975, and automatically repealed all the old traffic laws — including the one passed only a few months earlier. The mixup wasn't discovered until after adjournment and one of the first actions of the 1975 legislature was passage of a new measure reinstating the right-turn law.

Too many red blood cells

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have what has been diagnosed as polycythemia. It leaves me very tired and short of breath. Coudl you explain this disorder and comment on its treatment?

DEAR READER — There are several kinds of polycythemia. In all instances, though, it means an increase in the amount of red blood cells in your circulation.

People living at high altitude have one form of polycythemia caused by the low oxygen pressure. The body simply forms more red cells to compensate for less oxygen in the lungs. The amount of increase in red cells is related to the level of altitude. People living at 14,000 feet have quite an increase.

You can get a polycythemia response from lung disease. The chronic lung disease causes a low oxygen level in the lungs, and the body responds much like it does to altitude. This is the basis for saying a person with lung disease is already living at high altitude.

Both high altitude and lung disease cause "secondary polycythemia." I suspect you have polycythemia vera which is "primary polycythemia." No one knows what causes this. It is often associated with an increase in white blood cells, too. About two-thirds of the cases have an enlarged spleen.

It has been demonstrated that you can cause this in mice by infecting them with a particular virus. The mice develop the picture of increased amounts of red cells and an enlarged spleen. Showing that you can do this, though, does not prove that a virus causes polycythemia vera in humans. Just as an anemia can be caused from many different things (iron deficiency, bleeding, vitamin deficiencies to mention a few), it is reasonable that there may be other causes for polycythemia in man. No one has yet proved that any such case in man has been caused by a virus.

A lot of people with polycythemia vera have no symptoms at all. Others have symptoms including being tired and short of breath as you do. The systolic blood pressure may be elevated. The face may be ruddy because of the dilated capillaries. There may be from 7 to 10 million red cells in a milliliter when normally there should be only about 5 million.

One of the mainstays of treatment of this disorder is simply to draw off some of the blood. That usually lets the pressure go down if it is elevated. This is about the only condition in medicine today where it is still believed to be helpful to bleed a person. Bleeding was wrongly thought to be good treatment for many illnesses 200 years ago and is believed to have contributed to George Washington's death.

Sometimes bleeding treatments have to be stopped, because the person may get too low on iron and have an iron deficiency. In these cases it may be necessary to give various chemicals that depress the bone marrow's over production of red cells. There are a number of these medicines available.

Finally in older patients, it is sometimes a good choice to use radioactive phosphorus. This substance slows down the bone marrow considerably and often relieves the problem for a relatively long period of time.

It's the law!

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Last-minute adjournment rushes by state lawmakers in scattered areas of the country have resulted in legislative goofs involving everything from traffic regulations to divorce settlements.

An Associated Press spot check on Monday showed that in most cases, the inadvertently passed bills have been quickly repealed, amended or overturned by legal rulings.

Oklahoma's attorney general, for example, says he expects to rule that a recently passed bill involving divorce settlements is unconstitutional. Unless someone challenges the ruling — and no such challenge is expected — the bill won't be enforced.

The Oklahoma legislators, in an apparent bow to the women's liberation movement, were trying to make it possible for a woman to resume use of her maiden name after a divorce.

In amending the bill, however, they wound up saying that a wife also "shall be restored ... to all the property, lands, tenements, hereditaments owned by either party before marriage or acquired by either party in their own right after such marriage..."

That means the woman gets everything.

(Hereditament is a legal term referring to propertythat can be inherited.)

The governor, apparently unaware of the mixup, signed the bill.

Oregon legislators are meeting Tuesday in a special session to fix a law that closed all police records to press and public. The lawmakers intended to pass a law preventing police agencies from keeping political and religious files on people and making some records confidential. As in Oklahoma, amendments during the closing days of the session, went too far.

The Nebraska legislature wanted to pass a law giving local governments authority to contract with private firms to provide hot meals for the elderly. The bill accidentally gave local governments almost unlimited authority to contract to spend tax dollars. The error was caught while the bill was still on the governor's desk and the measure was sent back to the legislature for amendment.

North Carolina legislators spent the opening days of this year's general assembly session trying to straighten out a 1974 goof involving right turns and red lights.

Here's what happened: the 1974 legislature adopted a measure allowing motorists to make right turns on red lights after stopping. It took effect July 1 last year. At the same time, however, the lawmakers were revising the state's overall traffic code and they failed to include the right-turn provision. The new code took effect Jan. 1, 1975, and automatically repealed all the old traffic laws — including the one passed only a few months earlier. The mixup wasn't discovered until after adjournment and one of the first actions of the 1975 legislature was passage of a new measure reinstating the right-turn law.

What's the law?

The case of the unfired employe claim

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Ruppert had about as much ambition as a hibernating polar bear. Complacent and unfired, he managed to perform his job with reasonable satisfaction, but with little enthusiasm. And when his employer asked him to work 15 minutes overtime one day, he flinched at the thought and declined the request politely and without explanation — and was fired.

Accepting his unemployment philosophically, Ruppert strolled over to the local unemployment bureau and applied for unemployment benefits. "Sorry, Mac," he was told. "Since you were let go for willful misconduct, you're not qualified."

"What willful misconduct?" queried Ruppert. "You gotta be kidding. I was bounced because I didn't want to work overtime. From 9 to 5, I did everything that was required of me. But, there's no law that says a man must work overtime if he doesn't want to. After all, this is still a free country."

Determined to collect unemployment benefits, Ruppert took his claim to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit unfired Ruppert to collect unemployment benefits?

This is how the judge ruled: NO!

The judge held that "willful misconduct" has been construed to mean a wanton or willful disregard for an employer's interests. By flatly refusing to work for a short period of time, without explanation, noted the judge, Ruppert's conduct was unreasonable and unfriendly to his employer's interests.

An employer, concluded the judge, is entitled to a degree of loyalty and willingness to work above and beyond the call of duty .

How to prepare fresh corn beef

The preservation of beef by the use of salt is termed "corning." However, the method used in making corned beef today entails more than the application of salt.

A popular formula consists of dissolving two pounds of salt, three-fourths pound of sugar, one ounce of baking soda, three-fourths ounce sodium nitrate and one-sixteenth ounce sodium nitrite in one gallon of water. This will cure 25 pounds of beef. Boneless cuts of brisket, plate, chuck and round usually are used for corning.

Pack the cut in a stone crock or wooden tub or barrel; cover them with chilled pickle and weigh the meat with a board upon which a nonmetal weight can be placed. If the brisket is not rolled and is not more than three inches thick, it will cure and be ready to use in 12 to 14 days.

If more flavor is desired, add a slight amount of garlic or pickling spices.

Poultry prices down

The Farm Bureau shoppers' guide survey shows only a slight rise in wholesale prices of beef and pork items this week, (prices paid to processors and producers). In sharp contrast, beef, pork and sugar took substantial increases at Missouri retail grocery stores according to the shoppers' guide. The weekly survey of retail prices at 50 grocery stores across the state reported 15 of 22 major food items surveyed increased in price this week from slight to as much as 15 cents. Out of seven major beef items, five increased with the total cost for the seven being 17 cents more than the previous week. Five major pork items increased 21 cents over last week, with pork blade roast jumping the greatest.

Fryers seem to be the hot sale item of the week with both whole and cut-up fryers down. Milk continues on a slight rise along with all three grades of eggs.

Potatoes were down after a slight rise last week, however 10 pounds of sugar took a drastic 15-cent jump. The trend is stores are only stocking the five-pound bags and eliminating the 10-pound packages altogether.

Sodas may cause hyperactive children

WASHINGTON — Hyperactivity among children "has reached epidemic proportions," and artificial food colors and flavors are contributing, a medical researcher told Congress Thursday.

Dr. Ben F. Feingold, chief-emeritus of allergy at the Kaiser-Permanete Medical Center in San Francisco, said his treatment of several hundred hyperactive children has demonstrated that about 50 per cent can be helped if synthetic additives are removed from their diets.

FEINGOLD ESTIMATED 5 MILLION or more American children are hyperactive, a state characterized by uncontrolled fidgetiness, short attention span and low threshold of frustration that makes learning difficult.

He said the rise of hyperactivity among children during the last 10 years parallels the increase in soft drinks and synthetic flavor sales.

Schools are resorting to more use of drugs to control the behavior of hyperactive children, turning many of them into zombies, he told the Senate health subcommittee.

Synthetic flavors and colors have no nutritional value and are added to food purely for cosmetic purposes, Feingold said. "If these chemicals were omitted from our food supply, nothing would be lost," he added.

FEINGOLD SAID THAT eliminating the additives from the diets of hyperactive patients resulted in marked improvements within a few weeks and sometimes within days. But any infraction of the diet, such as taking a candy bar or a stick of gum, resulted in a recurrence of hyperactivity within a few hours that persisted for one to four days, he said.

Feingold said he supports the use of a symbol on food and beverage packages containing artificial colors and flavors to alert parents who have hyperactive children.

Ann Landers

Reader observes only "gays" dance gracefully

Dear Ann Landers: I am convinced the American woman's obsession that men be good dancers is breeding the masculinity out of them.

Dancing is a woman's game. A truly masculine male was not meant to glide a woman gracefully across the dance floor. His center of gravity is different and he is likely to feel clumsy and awkward when he attempts to imitate the grace and rhythm that his partner expresses so naturally. This is why most manly men hate to dance.

Not so with the gay element. They are invariably marvelous dancers and have fooled a great many women. Some women have even married them be cause they are so beautiful and dance so well.

This trend will be reversed only when women get smart and stop falling for fairies who "Tiptoe Through the Tulips."

Wise them up, will you, Ann? -- Orlando Observer

Dear O.O.: Wise THEM up? Dearie, you're the one who needs to be wised up. Such hogwash I haven't heard since I left Iowa.

Your notion that only gay guys are good dancers is ridiculous. I don't know who you've been dancing with in Orlando, but come to Chicago and I'll prove your theory is cockeyed.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 72, my husband is 73. We've had separate bedrooms for ten years, since Horace's snoring got so bad I couldn' stand it. He used to "visit" me occasionally, but hasn't done so for about six years -- which is fine with me.

Last week a neighbor told Horace about a drug for Parkinson's disease that awakens the sex drive in older men. He said a 70-year-old Parkinson's patient who hadn't had the urge for ten years took the medicine while hospitalized and began to chase the nurses down the corridores.

Horace has been nagging me for three days to write to you and ask if there is any truth to it. I hope you'll say NO. – No Signature, Of Course

Dear No Sig: The drug your neighbor heard about is called L-Dopa. The effects on that patient were "unusual." My medical consultants tell me L-Dopa cannot be obtained for use as an aphrodisiac. So I don't think you have anything to worry about, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is going through the change. She perspires a lot and is always complaining that it is too hot in the house. The woman never sits down. She is constantly on the run, up the stairs, down the stairs, cooking, cleaning, washing windows – it would make anybody perspire, change or no change.

When the kids or I tell her it's chilly in the house, she says, "Put on a sweater."

Do you think it's fair that we should have to wear sweaters on account of her condition? Is there any way we can ALL be comfortable? – Chilly Willy

Dear Chilly: There might be. Has your wife been to a doctor lately? In recent years some highly effective medication has been developed for menopausal women. If your wife hasn't looked into it, I suggest she do so at once.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Household hints

Blue ice is a permanently sealed, plastic container with a liquid inside. It can be frozen and placed in a cooler instead of ice.

A jar half full of water, frozen will keep food cold in a cooler. Take along a punch concentrate to pour over the ice in the jar. As the ice melts it dilutes the concentrate, making it ready to use.

Never beat egg whites in an aluminum pan as they will darken it.

Housewife dumps 21 personalities

FAIRFAX CITY, Va. (AP) — The woman portrayed in the movie "The Three Faces of Eve" says she has recovered from her rare mental illness after manifesting 21 different personalities over 23 years.

"I am confident that I am well," Chris Sizemore said in a telephone interview Sunday night after revealing publicly that she is the woman portrayed in the 1957 movie.

Mrs. Sizemore, 48, the wife of a construction electrician, said she had kept secret from all but her family, doctors and one friend the fact that she suffered from multiple personality.

But it has been a year since her last three personalities "died," she said, and her doctor urged her to reveal her identity as part of her therapy.

"I think they had fulfilled their need — allowing me to face realities I couldn't face otherwise," Mrs. Sizemore said. I came to grips when my father passed away in March. Before, a traumatic experience like that usually brought on a change (of personality). When that didn't, my doctors thought I was cured."

Mrs. Sizemore's condition was diagnosed in 1952 after she had been under psychiatric treatment for a year by Dr. Corbett H. Thigpen, who was co-author of a best-selling book on the case. The movie, which won actress Joanne Woodward an Academy award, was based on the book.

It was Dr. Thigpen who advised her to keep her condition secret, Mrs. Sizemore said. "I think he thought he was doing the right thing for the patient but perhaps it was not right for me because I developed a guilt complex," she added. "My whole family was enclosed. We had no social life."

In the manifestation of her illness, Mrs. Sizemore was "taken over" at various times by 21 different personalities, each with a distinct character, habits, skills and physical mannerisms.

Couples honor marriage

62nd anniversary

CHAFFEE—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobbs of Chaffee celebrated 62 years of marriage recently with a family gathering at their home.

Hobbs and the former Rowena DeBow of Paducah, Ky., were married Sept. 8, 1913. Hobbs was a blacksmith for Frisco Railroad until 1922 and a steam presser for the Chaffee Manufacturing Co. until his retirement in 1959.

25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Vaughan, 108 Comstock Place, recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception and dance at the Security National Bank. Vaughan married the former Mary Francis Meunier Sept. 2, 1950 in Sikeston and the couple has lived in Sikeston for about 24 years. Vaughan is employed by Bob Ralph Distributing Co. and his wife is a bookkeeper for the same company.

The couple has seven children: Mrs. Bonnie Miller, 415 Illinois Ave.; Don Vaughan, 220 Petroleum St.; Lee Vaughan, Route Two; and Barbara, Brenda, Mike and Joe Vaughan at home; plus one grandchild.

Household hints

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Lose up to a Pound a Day

Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Eat All You Want

Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 days supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: GRAPEFRUIT FARMS, Dept. Poultry prices down

The Farm Bureau shoppers' guide survey shows only a slight rise in wholesale prices of beef and pork items this week, (prices paid to processors and producers). In sharp contrast, beef, pork and sugar took substantial increases at Missouri retail grocery stores according to the shoppers' guide. The weekly survey of retail prices at 50 grocery stores across the state reported 15 of 22 major food items surveyed increased in price this week from slight to as much as 15 cents. Out of seven major beef items, five increased with the total cost for the seven being 17 cents more than the previous week. Five major pork items increased 21 cents over last week, with pork blade roast jumping the greatest.

Fryers seem to be the hot sale item of the week with both whole and cut-up fryers down. Milk continues on a slight rise along with all three grades of eggs.

Potatoes were down after a slight rise last week, however 10 pounds of sugar took a drastic 15-cent jump. The trend is stores are only stocking the five-pound bags and eliminating the 10-pound packages altogether.

Sodas may cause hyperactive children

WASHINGTON — Hyperactivity among children "has reached epidemic proportions," and artificial food colors and flavors are contributing, a medical researcher told Congress Thursday.

Dr. Ben F. Feingold, chief-emeritus of allergy at the Kaiser-Permanete Medical Center in San Francisco, said his treatment of several hundred hyperactive children has demonstrated that about 50 per cent can be helped if synthetic additives are removed from their diets.

FEINGOLD ESTIMATED 5 MILLION or more American children are hyperactive, a state characterized by uncontrolled fidgetiness, short attention span and low threshold of frustration that makes learning difficult.

He said the rise of hyperactivity among children during the last 10 years parallels the increase in soft drinks and synthetic flavor sales.

Schools are resorting to more use of drugs to control the behavior of hyperactive children, turning many of them into zombies, he told the Senate health subcommittee.

Synthetic flavors and colors have no nutritional value and are added to food purely for cosmetic purposes, Feingold said. "If these chemicals were omitted from our food supply, nothing would be lost," he added.

FEINGOLD SAID THAT eliminating the additives from the diets of hyperactive patients resulted in marked improvements within a few weeks and sometimes within days. But any infraction of the diet, such as taking a candy bar or a stick of gum, resulted in a recurrence of hyperactivity within a few hours that persisted for one to four days, he said.

Feingold said he supports the use of a symbol on food and beverage packages containing artificial colors and flavors to alert parents who have hyperactive children.

Ann Landers

Reader observes only "gays" dance gracefully

Dear Ann Landers: I am convinced the American woman's obsession that men be good dancers is breeding the masculinity out of them.

Dancing is a woman's game. A truly masculine male was not meant to glide a woman gracefully across the dance floor. His center of gravity is different and he is likely to feel clumsy and awkward when he attempts to imitate the grace and rhythm that his partner expresses so naturally. This is why most manly men hate to dance.

Not so with the gay element. They are invariably marvelous dancers and have fooled a great many women. Some women have even married them be cause they are so beautiful and dance so well.

This trend will be reversed only when women get smart and stop falling for fairies who "Tiptoe Through the Tulips."

Wise them up, will you, Ann? -- Orlando Observer

Dear O.O.: Wise THEM up? Dearie, you're the one who needs to be wised up. Such hogwash I haven't heard since I left Iowa.

Your notion that only gay guys are good dancers is ridiculous. I don't know who you've been dancing with in Orlando, but come to Chicago and I'll prove your theory is cockeyed.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 72, my husband is 73. We've had separate bedrooms for ten years, since Horace's snoring got so bad I couldn' stand it. He used to "visit" me occasionally, but hasn't done so for about six years -- which is fine with me.

Last week a neighbor told Horace about a drug for Parkinson's disease that awakens the sex drive in older men. He said a 70-year-old Parkinson's patient who hadn't had the urge for ten years took the medicine while hospitalized and began to chase the nurses down the corridores.

Horace has been nagging me for three days to write to you and ask if there is any truth to it. I hope you'll say NO. – No Signature, Of Course

Dear No Sig: The drug your neighbor heard about is called L-Dopa. The effects on that patient were "unusual." My medical consultants tell me L-Dopa cannot be obtained for use as an aphrodisiac. So I don't think you have anything to worry about, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is going through the change. She perspires a lot and is always complaining that it is too hot in the house. The woman never sits down. She is constantly on the run, up the stairs, down the stairs, cooking, cleaning, washing windows – it would make anybody perspire, change or no change.

When the kids or I tell her it's chilly in the house, she says, "Put on a sweater."

Do you think it's fair that we should have to wear sweaters on account of her condition? Is there any way we can ALL be comfortable? – Chilly Willy

Dear Chilly: There might be. Has your wife been to a doctor lately? In recent years some highly effective medication has been developed for menopausal women. If your wife hasn't looked into it, I suggest she do so at once.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Household hints

Blue ice is a permanently sealed, plastic container with a liquid inside. It can be frozen and placed in a cooler instead of ice.

A jar half full of water, frozen will keep food cold in a cooler. Take along a punch concentrate to pour over the ice in the jar. As the ice melts it dilutes the concentrate, making it ready to use.

Never beat egg whites in an aluminum pan as they will darken it.

Housewife dumps 21 personalities

FAIRFAX CITY, Va. (AP) — The woman portrayed in the movie "The Three Faces of Eve" says she has recovered from her rare mental illness after manifesting 21 different personalities over 23 years.

"I am confident that I am well," Chris Sizemore said in a telephone interview Sunday night after revealing publicly that she is the woman portrayed in the 1957 movie.

Mrs. Sizemore, 48, the wife of a construction electrician, said she had kept secret from all but her family, doctors and one friend the fact that she suffered from multiple personality.

But it has been a year since her last three personalities "died," she said, and her doctor urged her to reveal her identity as part of her therapy.

"I think they had fulfilled their need — allowing me to face realities I couldn't face otherwise," Mrs. Sizemore said. I came to grips when my father passed away in March. Before, a traumatic experience like that usually brought on a change (of personality). When that didn't, my doctors thought I was cured."

Mrs. Sizemore's condition was diagnosed in 1952 after she had been under psychiatric treatment for a year by Dr. Corbett H. Thigpen, who was co-author of a best-selling book on the case. The movie, which won actress Joanne Woodward an Academy award, was based on the book.

It was Dr. Thigpen who advised her to keep her condition secret, Mrs. Sizemore said. "I think he thought he was doing the right thing for the patient but perhaps it was not right for me because I developed a guilt complex," she added. "My whole family was enclosed. We had no social life."

In the manifestation of her illness, Mrs. Sizemore was "taken over" at various times by 21 different personalities, each with a distinct character, habits, skills and physical mannerisms.

Couples honor marriage

62nd anniversary

CHAFFEE—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobbs of Chaffee celebrated 62 years of marriage recently with a family gathering at their home.

Hobbs and the former Rowena DeBow of Paducah, Ky., were married Sept. 8, 1913. Hobbs was a blacksmith for Frisco Railroad until 1922 and a steam presser for the Chaffee Manufacturing Co. until his retirement in 1959.

25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Vaughan, 108 Comstock Place, recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception and dance at the Security National Bank. Vaughan married the former Mary Francis Meunier Sept. 2, 1950 in Sikeston and the couple has lived in Sikeston for about 24 years. Vaughan is employed by Bob Ralph Distributing Co. and his wife is a bookkeeper for the same company.

The couple has seven children: Mrs. Bonnie Miller, 415 Illinois Ave.; Don Vaughan, 220 Petroleum St.; Lee Vaughan, Route Two; and Barbara, Brenda, Mike and Joe Vaughan at home; plus one grandchild.

Household hints

Make bite-size biscuits a part of your next party menu. Use a one-inch biscuit cutter or drop them by teaspoons. Add cheese or onion to the dough or fill the biscuits with sliced ham or turkey.

Getting married?

The Daily Standard, 205 S. New Madrid St., now has new wedding forms available at the front office or at the women's desk. Business hours are from 7 a.m., to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Forms will be mailed if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is provided.

The deadline for weddings is three weeks after date of wedding. Pictures will be returned if a self-addressed, stamped envelope large enough to hold a picture is supplied. Color pictures are discouraged. There is no charge for running a wedding. We are happy to publish it.

Perryville tough opponent

Sikeston fans tire of talk about losing streaks. Players, when they read about fumbles, think about fumbles, and when they think about fumbles...

Six lost fumbles, three pass interceptions, a player not on the field while his team was trying to cover a punt--all things that have combined to cost the Sikeston Bulldogs their first two games and send them into conference play with an uninspiring 0-2 record. facing Perryville at Public School Stadium before a 'Moms night' crowd. But, there have been bright spots in losses of 14-0 to Farmington and 19-13 to Caruthersville.

"We had them on the run," said coach Terry Smith, talking about his troops blowing a two-touchdown lead against Caruthersville.

Several times the coach has mentioned that this year's team is one of his best ever, in talent at least. And, the man has really had some good teams, during his just-over-a-decade of coaching.

So, your record is 0-2, with conference games against tough Northern division opponents dotting the rest of your schedule. What do you do?

"We're going to change our defense around a bit," offers Smith.

"We're going to try to get some quickness on that defensive line."

Rob Newman moves from noseguard to linebacker and is replaced by 5-foot-11, 213-pound Wayne Turpin. Turpin's tackle spot is now manned by Wayne Sumlin, a wiry 175-pounder. Mark Sullivan, an on-and-off starter the past two years, plants his 165 pounds at the other tackle and sophomore David Smith will start at an end. Doug Reynolds moves to end from linebacker giving the Dogs five new faces on the line. Will Kaiser, a 150-pound junior will replace Garry Griffin at cornerback. Griffin has a broken finger.

These new faces and the rest of their defensive teammates will have the task of stopping an offense directed by junior quarterback Mike Wilson.

Wilson, touted as a good passer before the season, hasn't passed well yet.

"We certainly hope he doesn't change it all against us," said the coach. Luck has been like that for the Bulldogs lately.

Joining Wilson in the backfield is one of the area's top runners, 180-pound Glenn Klump. Klump, with 110 rushing yards in two games, is the only Bucco to cross the goal line, as the Perryville offense hasn't been too steady yet. But, the defense has...

"They are the toughest team we've faced yet, according to our scouts," pondered the coach, ominous words to the leader of a winless team.

As always, the Perryville Pirates have "a real tough defense."

One hundred eighty-five pound tackle Jim Bruckerhoff leads the defensive charge of a small, but super-quick, line that has allowed just 13 points in two games and just over 265 total yards against those two opponents. By, comparison, Caruthersville had 209 yards against the Bulldogs in the first half.

Sikeston has beaten Perryville only once in the last six years, 24-0 in 1969, and coach Smith would like nothing better than to beat the school he left to take the Sikeston job. He has failed twice, a fact he is all too aware of.

Sikeston has shown it has the talent. Powerback James Wilder is a tough and strong runner and pairs well with either Mike Lambert or Paul Bean. Fullback Scott Scherer lends able blocking and quarterback Ron Priday may be the best and most versatile athlete on the team. Priday has good receiving targets in, primarily, Paul Gilbow, the 6-foot-6 tight end, and to a lesser degree, slick, sure-fingered Jeff Baker and the team's fastest man, Joe Green. The line gives Priday time to throw, usually, and provides holes for the runners. In short, barring fumbles and penalties, Sikeston can move the ball. The defense has been adequate, but appears to be improving. And, it's mom's night. The Bulldogs never lose on mom's special evening, do they?

A losing image needs to be shed. An article slighting the obstacle Sikeston presents to Perryville has been tacked to the bulletin board in the lockerroom for the team's inspection, just under a sign proclaiming "BELIEVE" in 12-inch letters. A win would at least give the team something to believe in and would divert the talk from losing streaks. Who wants to talk about losing anyway?

Raiders picked to go all the way

NEW YORK (AP) — Introducing, the Oakland Raiders, the perennial bridesmaids who this season will finally make it to the Super Bowl, so help them Al Davis.

Davis is the front-office boss of the Raiders and considered one of pro football's shrewdest executives. He has molded his team into one of the game's most impressive units and, after years of frustrating failure, the moves should finally pay off this time around.

The Raiders played in Super Bowl II and they're overdue for a return trip to the championship game. With a cast headed by quarterback Ken Stabler on offense and a strengthened defense, Oakland should make it.

The trip won't be easy. To get to the title game, the Raiders will have to fight off some impressive opposition from Pittsburgh's defending champion Steelers and the Miami Dolphins, hungry for a return to the top of the pro football heap. The Steelers should repeat as Central Division kingpins after fighting off Paul Brown's stubborn Cincinnati Bengals; the Dolphins, although depleted by injuries and defection, still should have enough to win the East over the Joe Namath-led New York Jets.

If everything goes the way it ought to, this is how the American Football Conference standings should look when the regular season ends ... assuming, of course, there is a strike settlement and the regular season is played:

WESTERN DIVISION
.. Oakland Raiders
.. Denver Broncos
.. Kansas City Chiefs
.. San Diego Chargers
..

.. CENTRAL DIVISION
.. Pittsburgh Steelers
.. Cincinnati Bengals
.. Cleveland Browns

.. EASTERN DIVISION
.. Miami Dolphins

.. New England Patriots

Stabler has some of the National Football League's most potent offensive weapons to work with on Oakland's offense.

His running backs include tough Marv Hubbard and elusive Clarence Davis. He has two of the NFL's best wide receivers in Fred Biletnikoff and Cliff Branch, and any time he can't take the Raiders into the end zone for six points, there's always old reliable field goal kicker George Blanda available for three.

On defense, Davis added one of the league's very best linebackers when he signed free agent Ted Hendricks. The draft yielded a blue chip defensive back in Neal Colzie of Ohio State. They'll fit right into a cast that includes Otis Sistrunk, Art Thoms, Phil Villipiano.

Now that the Steelers own Super Bowl rings, the incentive won't be the same. And that should be Coach Chuck Noll's biggest problem.

Terry Bradshaw is the signalcaller fulltime now. And Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier give the Steelers a tough pair of runners.

Perryville tough opponent

Sikeston fans tire of talk about losing streaks. Players, when they read about fumbles, think about fumbles, and when they think about fumbles...

Six lost fumbles, three pass interceptions, a player not on the field while his team was trying to cover a punt--all things that have combined to cost the Sikeston Bulldogs their first two games and send them into conference play with an uninspiring 0-2 record. facing Perryville at Public School Stadium before a 'Moms night' crowd. But, there have been bright spots in losses of 14-0 to Farmington and 19-13 to Caruthersville.

"We had them on the run," said coach Terry Smith, talking about his troops blowing a two-touchdown lead against Caruthersville.

Several times the coach has mentioned that this year's team is one of his best ever, in talent at least. And, the man has really had some good teams, during his just-over-a-decade of coaching.

So, your record is 0-2, with conference games against tough Northern division opponents dotting the rest of your schedule. What do you do?

"We're going to change our defense around a bit," offers Smith.

"We're going to try to get some quickness on that defensive line."

Rob Newman moves from noseguard to linebacker and is replaced by 5-foot-11, 213-pound Wayne Turpin. Turpin's tackle spot is now manned by Wayne Sumlin, a wiry 175-pounder. Mark Sullivan, an on-and-off starter the past two years, plants his 165 pounds at the other tackle and sophomore David Smith will start at an end. Doug Reynolds moves to end from linebacker giving the Dogs five new faces on the line. Will Kaiser, a 150-pound junior will replace Garry Griffin at cornerback. Griffin has a broken finger.

These new faces and the rest of their defensive teammates will have the task of stopping an offense directed by junior quarterback Mike Wilson.

Wilson, touted as a good passer before the season, hasn't passed well yet.

"We certainly hope he doesn't change it all against us," said the coach. Luck has been like that for the Bulldogs lately.

Joining Wilson in the backfield is one of the area's top runners, 180-pound Glenn Klump. Klump, with 110 rushing yards in two games, is the only Bucco to cross the goal line, as the Perryville offense hasn't been too steady yet. But, the defense has...

"They are the toughest team we've faced yet, according to our scouts," pondered the coach, ominous words to the leader of a winless team.

As always, the Perryville Pirates have "a real tough defense."

One hundred eighty-five pound tackle Jim Bruckerhoff leads the defensive charge of a small, but super-quick, line that has allowed just 13 points in two games and just over 265 total yards against those two opponents. By, comparison, Caruthersville had 209 yards against the Bulldogs in the first half.

Sikeston has beaten Perryville only once in the last six years, 24-0 in 1969, and coach Smith would like nothing better than to beat the school he left to take the Sikeston job. He has failed twice, a fact he is all too aware of.

Sikeston has shown it has the talent. Powerback James Wilder is a tough and strong runner and pairs well with either Mike Lambert or Paul Bean. Fullback Scott Scherer lends able blocking and quarterback Ron Priday may be the best and most versatile athlete on the team. Priday has good receiving targets in, primarily, Paul Gilbow, the 6-foot-6 tight end, and to a lesser degree, slick, sure-fingered Jeff Baker and the team's fastest man, Joe Green. The line gives Priday time to throw, usually, and provides holes for the runners. In short, barring fumbles and penalties, Sikeston can move the ball. The defense has been adequate, but appears to be improving. And, it's mom's night. The Bulldogs never lose on mom's special evening, do they?

A losing image needs to be shed. An article slighting the obstacle Sikeston presents to Perryville has been tacked to the bulletin board in the lockerroom for the team's inspection, just under a sign proclaiming "BELIEVE" in 12-inch letters. A win would at least give the team something to believe in and would divert the talk from losing streaks. Who wants to talk about losing anyway?

Raiders picked to go all the way

NEW YORK (AP) — Introducing, the Oakland Raiders, the perennial bridesmaids who this season will finally make it to the Super Bowl, so help them Al Davis.

Davis is the front-office boss of the Raiders and considered one of pro football's shrewdest executives. He has molded his team into one of the game's most impressive units and, after years of frustrating failure, the moves should finally pay off this time around.

The Raiders played in Super Bowl II and they're overdue for a return trip to the championship game. With a cast headed by quarterback Ken Stabler on offense and a strengthened defense, Oakland should make it.

The trip won't be easy. To get to the title game, the Raiders will have to fight off some impressive opposition from Pittsburgh's defending champion Steelers and the Miami Dolphins, hungry for a return to the top of the pro football heap. The Steelers should repeat as Central Division kingpins after fighting off Paul Brown's stubborn Cincinnati Bengals; the Dolphins, although depleted by injuries and defection, still should have enough to win the East over the Joe Namath-led New York Jets.

If everything goes the way it ought to, this is how the American Football Conference standings should look when the regular season ends ... assuming, of course, there is a strike settlement and the regular season is played:

Sports corner

By Ron Jaynes

Being a prognosticator for The Daily Standard doesn't pay anything...but it's a lot of fun! Isn't it Danny Summerfield, Albert Jay Bowles, Bobby Gentry, John Greer, Jerry Gentry, Scott Marlin, S.W. Thornbrough, Dale Forbis, Charlie Francis and Billy Sanders?

That's the lineup that has been joining us each week for our little guessing game...and we appreciate their interest.

We're in the third week of the season and already Billy Sanders is among the leaders with his 9-2 showing of last week. But he failed to give us his picks for this week and we're wondering what happened to this bright young man's predictions. Could it be that he was disgusted because he missed on two last week? Don't let that bother you...Last week's leader---Bobby Gentry---went two for nine after a 9-1 mark to open the season...Maybe that's why he failed to join us this week...he didn't want the same thing to happen to him.

Enough of the bag...Here's the way this week's panel sees the outcome of this weekend's high school schedule:

SIKESTON VS. PERRYVILLE---The Bulldogs can say one thing for this panel....they're sticking with them. That's more than some of the fans are doing. SHS is 5-4 favorites to win their first game, with one guesser going with a tie. Considering the weather...it could very well end in a standoff.

CAPE CENTRAL VS. HAZELWOOD---Southeast Missouri fans give the Bengals a 8-2 edge over the St. Louis area power....It'll be a battle.

CHARLESTON VS. PERRYVILLE ST. VINCENT---The Bluejays are 9-1 favorites...But has last week's lashing taken anything out of the team...We'll see after this big contest.

JACKSON VS. STE. GENEVIEVE----Coach Paul Webber has himself another state contender and this contest will be a big test for his Indians.... The panel have him a solid favorite....10-0.

..POPLAR BLUFF VS. KENNETT---The only thing here is to guess the final score...it's almost a sure bet that Moss will cover the indians...The panel is in full agreement...10-0.

CARUTHERSVILLE VS. HAYTI---This rivalry contest has been a hard one to pick for years...it seems that the underdog always seems to score some surprises in this battle...The Tigers are 9-1 favorites to chase off the Indians.

PORTAGEVILLE VS. DEXTER---The Bearcats are favored to even their season record in this contest...6-4...But don't sell the Bulldogs short.

EAST PRAIRIE VS. CHAFFEE---The Eagles are flying high and are 9-1 picks to run their season record to 3-0....

ILLMO-SCOTT CITY VS. MALDEN---Coach William Wilthongs Rams are 9-1 favorites to ride the Green Wave to victory....But don't sell MHS short.

SOUTH PEMISCOT VS. DONIPHAN---Now this should be one of the more interesting battles of the night...The Bulldogs are riding high after scoring their first victory over Hayti last week while the Dons continued to look for their first win. The South is favored, but beware of the Dons.

Join with us next week and try your mind at picking the winners.....

BHS CHAMP

Bloomfield claimed the championship of the Woodland Invitational Volleyball Tournament last Friday night with a pair of victories over Advance.

Long volleys highlighted the first game of the match, which took about 45 minutes to play. Advance led 14-11 at one point, but Bloomfield battled back to take a 16-14 victory. The Wildcats went on to breeze past Advance 15-10 in the second game to grab the first place trophy.

Stephanie Miller led the way for Bloomfield, scoring a total of 37 points in their semifinal and final games. The Wildcats had beaten Puxico in the semifinals Thursday night.

The Bloomfield team is coached by Jeanne Kingree.

Marquand, which lost to Advance in the semifinals, defeated Puxico in the consolation game to win third place.

Expos burn Cards, 5-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Both the Montreal Expos and the St. Louis Cardinals were presented the same chance.

And no sooner had the Cards squandered theirs than the Expos converted an identical opportunity in a 5-0 Montreal victory Thursday night.

"I'll give him credit. He pulled it and got away with it," said Lou Brock, who was picked neatly off first base by Expos pitcher Steve Renko to foil a budding St. Louis threat in the fourth inning.

"But I'll say this," Brock admonished. "If he's already gotten away with it three times, I'm sure there'll be a defense against it soon."

Brock's reference was to the Cards' lone bid, one which dawned brightly with Bake McBride's drive to center for the first of five hits off Renko, 6-12, as St. Louis trailed 1-0.

McBride scurried to third on Brock's bouncing single up the middle and both runners were soon poised as Willie Davis stepped in.

Then Renko, who is 6-foot-6, deliberately moved from the mound in faking a pickoff attempt to third and whirled to throw to first.

The stunned Brock was caught 2½ strides from the bag and was easily run down as the St. Louis try which once seemed golden dissipated.

"I don't know if it was a play or not, but I darn well know it is now," said Montreal Manager Gene Mauch, whose team later had better luck when presented a similar chance.

"That's the third time he's used it," Mauch recalled. "The others were (Frank) Taveras of the Pirates and (Felix) Millan of the Mets, but this was the best it's worked."

Montreal afterward received home runs from Gary Carter and Pete Mackanin, but a run instrumental to the win preceded both.

Tim Foli and ex-Card Jim Dwyer were at third and first with two out in the sixth when Foli feinted a dash home, stopped and then resumed to score handily when catcher Ted Simmons' peg to second stuck in the glove of Mike Tyson.

"It was kind of a useless exercise after Carter got the home run," commented Mauch, referring to a subsequent blast off Cards starter Ron Reed, 12-12, which followed.

"He (Foli) was halfway home before he (Simmons) threw the ball," St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst complained. "He (Tyson) couldn't have gotten him anyway."

The triumph, representing Renko's sixth career shutout, was his third over the Cards this season and second since halting them 5-1 on July 4.

"It was a big play," the 30-year-old right-hander acknowledged in respect to the pickoff, "but there were a lot of big plays. The first couple of innings the balls were hit hard but fortunately right at somebody."

Being a prognosticator for The Daily Standard doesn't pay anything...but it's a lot of fun! Isn't it Danny Summerfield, Albert Jay Bowles, Bobby Gentry, John Greer, Jerry Gentry, Scott Marlin, S.W. Thornbrough, Dale Forbis, Charlie Francis and Billy Sanders?

That's the lineup that has been joining us each week for our little guessing game...and we appreciate their interest.

We're in the third week of the season and already Billy Sanders is among the leaders with his 9-2 showing of last week. But he failed to give us his picks for this week and we're wondering what happened to this bright young man's predictions. Could it be that he was disgusted because he missed on two last week? Don't let that bother you...Last week's leader---Bobby Gentry---went two for nine after a 9-1 mark to open the season...Maybe that's why he failed to join us this week...he didn't want the same thing to happen to him.

Enough of the bag...Here's the way this week's panel sees the outcome of this weekend's high school schedule:

SIKESTON VS. PERRYVILLE---The Bulldogs can say one thing for this panel....they're sticking with them. That's more than some of the fans are doing. SHS is 5-4 favorites to win their first game, with one guesser going with a tie. Considering the weather...it could very well end in a standoff.

CAPE CENTRAL VS. HAZELWOOD---Southeast Missouri fans give the Bengals a 8-2 edge over the St. Louis area power....It'll be a battle.

CHARLESTON VS. PERRYVILLE ST. VINCENT---The Bluejays are 9-1 favorites...But has last week's lashing taken anything out of the team...We'll see after this big contest.

JACKSON VS. STE. GENEVIEVE----Coach Paul Webber has himself another state contender and this contest will be a big test for his Indians.... The panel have him a solid favorite....10-0.

..POPLAR BLUFF VS. KENNETT---The only thing here is to guess the final score...it's almost a sure bet that Moss will cover the indians...The panel is in full agreement...10-0.

CARUTHERSVILLE VS. HAYTI---This rivalry contest has been a hard one to pick for years...it seems that the underdog always seems to score some surprises in this battle...The Tigers are 9-1 favorites to chase off the Indians.

PORTAGEVILLE VS. DEXTER---The Bearcats are favored to even their season record in this contest...6-4...But don't sell the Bulldogs short.

EAST PRAIRIE VS. CHAFFEE---The Eagles are flying high and are 9-1 picks to run their season record to 3-0....

ILLMO-SCOTT CITY VS. MALDEN---Coach William Wilthongs Rams are 9-1 favorites to ride the Green Wave to victory....But don't sell MHS short.

SOUTH PEMISCOT VS. DONIPHAN---Now this should be one of the more interesting battles of the night...The Bulldogs are riding high after scoring their first victory over Hayti last week while the Dons continued to look for their first win. The South is favored, but beware of the Dons.

Join with us next week and try your mind at picking the winners.....

CIRCUIT COURT

CHARLESTON — Trial of Daniel Griffith and George Joseph Gulley of Cape Girardeau on a first-degree robbery charge was set Wednesday by Judge Marshall Craig for Oct. 30.

The two men are charged in the change of venue case from New Madrid County with an Aug. 21 armed robbery at the Farmers State BAnk of Risco facility in Parma, in which approximately $7,240 was taken.

Griffith, reportedly dressed as a woman, is accused of going into the bank and holding a .38-caliber pistol on Joyce Presley, the teller, and demanding the money from the cash drawer. Gulley allegedly drove up to the drive-in window at the bank shortly before Griffith entered and asked for change for a $20 bill.

The two men were bound over to Circuit Court following their preliminary hearing Aug. 29 in New Madrid. Bond for each was set at $25,000.

Arrested for speeding in a radar surveillance area were Tommy Lee DeRoush, 920 Tanner St., Ronald Joe Hampton, 206 Kinder St., Karla K. Couch, Box 194, and William Thomas Kelley, 820 Agnes St.

MAGISTRATE COURT

NEW MADRID — A 30-year old Alabama hitchhiker, Neil Ray Scostlow, was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court on a charge of possession of stolen checks.

A preliminary hearing on the charge has been set for Monday, and he remained in custody under $1,000 bond.

A New Madrid County sheriff's deputy said the sheriff's department received information Wednesday morning from the Pemiscot County Sheriff's Department that it had been notified by an unidentified citizens band radio operator that a hitchhiker traveling north on Interstate 55 might have some stolen checks.

Scostlow was apprehended a short time later on Interstate 55 at the Highway 61 exit near Howardville. Two checks payable to Roy Wrecker Seed Co. were found in his possession.

The deputy said the checks are believed to have been removed from the mailbox of the seed company, which is located on Highway 61 south of Sikeston.

CIRCUIT COURT

CHARLESTON — Trial of Daniel Griffith and George Joseph Gulley of Cape Girardeau on a first-degree robbery charge was set Wednesday by Judge Marshall Craig for Oct. 30.

The two men are charged in the change of venue case from New Madrid County with an Aug. 21 armed robbery at the Farmers State BAnk of Risco facility in Parma, in which approximately $7,240 was taken.

Griffith, reportedly dressed as a woman, is accused of going into the bank and holding a .38-caliber pistol on Joyce Presley, the teller, and demanding the money from the cash drawer. Gulley allegedly drove up to the drive-in window at the bank shortly before Griffith entered and asked for change for a $20 bill.

The two men were bound over to Circuit Court following their preliminary hearing Aug. 29 in New Madrid. Bond for each was set at $25,000.

POLICE ARRESTS

Paul G. Fisher, Box 280, running school stop sign.

Jimmy Dale Sullivan, 103 Lillian Drive, petit larceny.

John Walker Hunt, 703 W. Gladys St., public intoxication.

Willyne Jones, 313 Missouri St., peace disturbance.

Donald Paul Dubro, Florissant, speeding.

Arrested for speeding in a radar surveillance area were Tommy Lee DeRoush, 920 Tanner St., Ronald Joe Hampton, 206 Kinder St., Karla K. Couch, Box 194, and William Thomas Kelley, 820 Agnes St.

MAGISTRATE COURT

NEW MADRID — A 30-year old Alabama hitchhiker, Neil Ray Scostlow, was arraigned Thursday in Magistrate Court on a charge of possession of stolen checks.

A preliminary hearing on the charge has been set for Monday, and he remained in custody under $1,000 bond.

A New Madrid County sheriff's deputy said the sheriff's department received information Wednesday morning from the Pemiscot County Sheriff's Department that it had been notified by an unidentified citizens band radio operator that a hitchhiker traveling north on Interstate 55 might have some stolen checks.

Scostlow was apprehended a short time later on interstate 55 at the Highway 61 exit near Howardville. Two checks payable to Roy Wrecker Seed Co. were found in his possession.

The deputy said the checks are believed to have been removed from the mailbox of the seed company, which is located on Highway 61 south of Sikeston.

..he never says a word...you'll laugh yourself speechless.

Construction under way at Murray Lane church

Construction is well under way on a $206,000 addition and renovation project at Murray Lane Baptist Church, 807 W. Murray Lane, scheduled for completion next spring.

Ths addition will consist of a 50 by 150-foot educational building and a 50 by 20-foot area connecting the new building with the present educational wing. The 8,500 square feet of additional space will more than double the size of the educational facilities, says the Rev. WadeParis, pastor.

The new building will be used for educational programs for preschool and elementary school children and will feature a complete nursery suite and space for a new department for exceptional children the church has recently added to its program.

The single-story addition will be of masonry construction designed to match the present buildings and will include 13 rooms featuring much additional storage space. Also, each room in the preschool division will have bath facilities.

Together with the renovated facilities in the present educational building, the addition is designed to enable the church to handle a capacity of 500 persons in its educational programs. The church has a present membership of 572 and 652 enrolled in Sunday School, where attendance has averaged 256 for the past year under crowded conditions.

The new building was designed by the Buchmueller, Whitworth, Foust & Stearnes Inc. architectural firm, and general contractor for the building and renovation project is Ryan Construction Co.

Renovation will include reroofing of the existing buildings, remodeling and enlarging kitchen facilities to more than double the present capacity, addition of a choir room and a new and larger library resource center and an enlarged offics area with space allotted for an additional staff member at a future data.

The Rev. Mr. Paris anticipates the project will be completed in time for Easter services next April 18, barring unforeseen delays in construction.

The church will finance the project through the sale of bonds which is expected to begin next month.

The church approved recommendation of its building committee on Aug. 24, and work started on the project the same week.

Missionary to be North Acres guest

The Rev. R. Stanley Jones, a missionary on furlough from Davou City, Phillippines, will speak Sunday morning at North Acres General Baptist Church, 202 Kennedy Drive. A graduate of Sikeston High School, the Rev. Mr. Jones is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert I. Jones, 905 Ruth St.

He attended Oakland City college at Oakland City, Ind. and graduated from Southern Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

The Rev. Mr. Jones and his wife have been on the mission field for the past two years. While on furlough, they are making their home in Sikeston, then will return to the mission field on Jan. 1.

The Rev. Mr. Jones is currently president of the General Baptist Bible College in Davao City, but is out in the field a considerable amount of time. The college is primarily for the native students to prepare for the ministry and return to their native people and minister to them.

Also, during the morning worship service Sunday, North Acres will burn the note on the church building, which was built in 1967 and was first occupied on the last Sunday in January 1968.

The Rev. Stanley Jones

Special recognition will be given to couples who signed the note and the trustees and pastor of the church at that time, the Rev. Robert I. Jones.

Following the service, a potluck dinner in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Jones and daughter Heather will be held at noon.

Tent revival set

An old-fashioned tent revival will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday on a lot adjacent to Brewer Mobile Homes Inc. on Highway 62 East.

The nightly services are sponsored by Old Bethel (Silent Hill) Baptist Church, and the evangelist will be the Rev. Frank Cayson of East Prairie.

Special singing will be presented during each service and will feature the Gospel Messengers and The Promiselanders Quartet. Both groups are composed of members of the Old Bethel church congregation, of which the Rev. Joe Skinner is pastor.

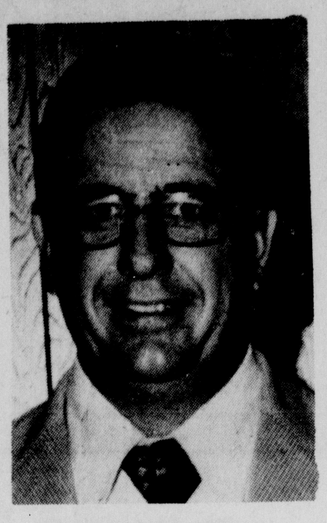
Revival to open at New Madrid

NEW MADRID--The Rev. Tom Hiser, pastor of First Baptist Church in Fairfield, Tex., will be the guest evangelist for revival services scheduled Sunday through Sept. 28 at the New Madrid Baptist Church, the Rev. Doug Baker, pastor, has announced.

The Rev. Mr. Hiser is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Tex., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Tex. He has pastored churches in New Mexico and Texas.

Mike Palis, minister of music of the host church, will be the music evangelist during the revival. Prior to moving to New Madrid in August to become the church's first full-time minister of music, he had served churches in Kansas City.



The Rev. Tom Hiser

The services will begin each night at 7:30.

Rescue mission slated to open next month

A rescue mission, to be known as the King of Faith Mission, will soon be opened in Sikeston at 811 Ruth St., according to B. F. King, operator of a lawn and tree service business who plans to open the mission about Oct. 15 to provide food, shelter and employment to needy persons.

King, who started his lawn and tree service here about two months ago, says the non-denominational mission will be supported primarily with earnings from the business operation and contributions from local citizens.

A native of Burbank, Okla., King this week moved into the Ruth Street home he plans to convert into a mission center capable of accommodating up to 15 residents besides the mission staff workers.

King says there will be no charge for anyone needing a place to stay and that the center will serve three meals each day. However, he says everyone who makes the center their home will be expected to help with any work that needs to be done, from operating the mission center to helping with the lawn and tree service.

Also, he said residents will be expected to abide by all rules of the center.

Although non-denominational, King said the mission will be religious in nature and that prayer and Bible study and discussion will be a part of every day at the center.

In early manhood King entered Southwestern Bible School at Enid, Okla., to prepare for the ministry, but was forced to drop out of school before graduating to work, although he has had experience as a preacher, having pastored churches in Oklahoma, Iowa and Missouri.

King left full-time ministry in 1948 to go into business and has since operated a furniture store and had lawn and tree service operations in Norman, Okla., and Corpus Christi, Tex., before coming to Sikeston earlier this year at the invitation of his son Don, who operates King Equipment Co. here.

King says he has long had a desire to open and operate a mission.

Anyone interested in making contributions or donations to the mission may call King at telephone number 471-2501 for more information.

He says all kinds of contributions will be put to good use in operating the center, including food, clothing, furniture, appliances, bedding and cash donations.

He plans to operate a repair sho p in the garage behind the mission and will have used articles on display for sale to the public at a fair price.

Churchmen hear dean

PORTAGEVILLE—Dean Carroll Walker, dean of students at Southeast Missouri State University, spoke at the quarterly United Churchmen's dinner Thursday night at First United Methodist Church.

Men's groups from several churches take turns sponsoring the quarterly meals.

The meal was prepared by the United Methodist Men's group, of which Vern Totty is president.

The Prayer

"I am a rose of Sharon, a lily of the valleys." (Song of Solomon 2:1, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank Thee for Thy gift of flowers. May we learn from them to open our lives to the sunshine of Thy love. May we depend utterly on Thee until our lives reflect Thy beauty . For Thy name's sake. Amen.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

So the Lord sent a plague upon Israel and 70,000 men died as a result. During the plague God sent an angel to destroy Jerusalem; but then he felt such compassion that he changed his mind and commanded the destroying angel, "Stop! It is enough!" When David saw the angel of the Lord standing between heaven and earth with his sword drawn, pointing toward Jerusalem, he and the elders of Israel clothed themselves in sackcloth and fell to the ground before the Lord.

I Chronicles 21:14-16

Billy Graham says angels are for real

Until recently, modern man has had a hard time believing that he shares Planet Earth with invisible beings called angels. Despite the fact that throughout the centuries many have claimed to see and talk with angels, and though there are more than 300 references to angelic beings in the Bible, most residents of the Atomic Age have taken angels with the proverbial grain of salt.

Until recently, that is. Until growing research into the field of extrasensory perception has made the spirit world seem more and more plausible. Until such reputable observers as astronauts began reporting unidentified flying objects near earth bearing striking resemblances to angelic aircraft described thousands of years ago in the Old Testament. And until such films as "Rosemary's Baby" and "The Exorcist" exploded on the public and 20th Century skeptics suddenly found themselves surrounded by Satan-worshipping churches and courses in witchcraft and demonology at well-known universities.

In the midst of this growing awareness of the spiritual, which often expresses itself in a fascination with the occult and the forces of evil, famous clergyman Billy Graham sheds fascinating new light on the other side of the spirit world, the forces of good...God's angels.

In his best-selling new book, "Angels: God's Secret Agents" (published in September by Doubleday), Dr. Graham flatly asserts that there are angels, and what's more, that they are here among us to help modern man in his earthly struggles.

Dr. Graham bases his belief in angels on the fact that the Bible clearly says there are angels, and he believes the Bible to be the true Word of God.

He cautions his readers against believing everything they may hear about angelic beings and urges them to check out scripture for themselves. Angels are not, he asserts, mere spiritual will-o-the-wisps or celestial beings with beautiful wings and bowed heads, but actual created beings, existing as surely as men exist, having mind-blowing power beyond man's limited understanding.

Angels do not have physical bodies, Graham says, but they do have the ability to take on bodies when God appoints them to a body-requiring task. Ten thousand of them, for instance, came down in indescribable splendor on Mount Sinai to conform the presence of God as He gave the Law to Moses. An earthquake shook the mountain and Moses was speechless at this mighty cataclysm attended by visible angels.

"It staggers the imagination," Dr. Graham writes, "to wonder what kind of headline would be prompted in the daily press for even a man-sided view of such a heavenly visitation."

Less famous, but equally interesting, are some of the present-day reports of angels included in the book.

Dr. Graham notes that throughout history angels have carried out God's judgments on the world, directing the destinies of disobedient nations. Angels scattered the ancient people of Israel because of their sins. Angels brought judgment on Sodom and Gomorrah, and eventually on Babylon and Nineveh. And, at the "end of the age," angels will execute judgment on those who have rejected God's love.

Bible prophecies concerning events in the world just before this "end of the age", and the return of Jesus Christ, are being fulfilled in the 20th Century as never before in history. With this in mind, Dr. Graham writes, "In the midst of the world crisis through which we are destined to live in the years ahead, the subject of angels will be of great comfort and inspiration to believers in God, and a challenge to unbelievers to believe."

One such foretold event is the era of demon worship through which the world is now passing. Writing of it, Dr. Graham acknowledges the real and deadly power of demons but the purpose of his book is precisely to focus the eyes of the world away from the forces of evil and onto angelic power. For the glory of God's angels, Billy Graham says boldly, "forever eclipses the world of demonic powers as the sun does the candle light."

That's what "Angels: God's Secret Agents" is all about.

All-day services to precede revival series

MALDEN—All-day services Sunday will precede the start of revival services Monday night at Second General Baptist Church.

Jack Campbell and the Ambassadors, as well as other gospel singing groups, will present special music for Sunday's services, and dinner will be served on the church grounds at noon.

The Rev. J.C. Joiner of Kennett will be the evangelist for the revival services, which will begin at 7:30 and feature special singing each night.

Pastor of the church is the Rev. James Hamlett.

Singing event planned

A gospel singing program will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Pentecostal Holiness Church, 328 W. North St., the Rev. Freeman Parker, pastor, has announced.

The Gant Singers of Samburg, Tenn., and the Jenkins Family of Sikeston will be featured with other local singers.

Weekend services slated

PORTAGEVILLE—A weekend series of services called "an experience of praise" will begin tonight at First Church of God, 500 King St., according to the Rev. Wayne Stout, pastor.

The services, beginning at 7:30 tonight and Saturday night and 10:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday, will be led by the Rev. Dan McCraw of Lake Wales, Fla., who will be remembered for his singing, preaching and instrumental music abilities at a similar series of services last year.

Free Spirits to sing Sunday

PORTAGEVILLE–The Free Spirits of Risco will be featured in a gospel singing program from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at First General Baptist Church.

Some groups drop 'Him' from hymnals

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Some Christians are taking the "Him" out of the hymnals.

They say if humans were "in the image and likeness of God," then God must be both masculine and feminine.

"Unfortunately, some folks are attempting to see this as 'neuterizing' God," said the Rev. Robert Young, chaplain at Duke University. "It's more positive than that."

Under the Rev. Mr. Young's guidance, a group of male and female Duke students are rewriting not only hymns and prayers but passages of Scripture. Ultimately, an entire "nonsexist" Bible may develop.

For instance, in a standard translation, John 15:13 reads: "Greater love hath no man than this that a man should lay down his life for his friends."

The Duke group has converted that passage to: "Greater love has no one than this that one should lay down one's life for a friend."

The Rev. Mr. Young said there has been no major opposition.

"We aren't making total breaks, anyhow. We still use the 'Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost,' and, of course, the Lord's Prayer, starting, 'Our Father, who art in heaven ...," he said.

In the main, he said, the Duke group has been substituting "God" for the pronoun "Him" whenever possible and, in some instances, praying, "Oh God, our Father-Mother."

So far, the group has left intact the masculine pronouns referring to Jesus Christ.

"Jesus was more than a man. He was the fulfillment of 'personhood,' for all persons, both men and women," the Rev. Mr. Young said.

However, he said: "There are students and some faculty who in their own private prayers are referring to God as 'She' or 'Her'. But that kind of thing is still very personal, not public."

Ambassadors to sing Sunday

CLARKTON—Jack Campbell and the Ambassadors will be guest singers at the Sunday evening worship service at Lynn Oak General Baptist Church, located one and a half miles west of town.

The service will begin at 6 p.m., according to the Rev. Jack Cole, pastor.

"The Awesome Presence"

HIGHLIGHT OF EXPO '75 is Japan's Aquapolis exhibition, (above) the first working prototype of a floating city. Built just off the mainland of Okinawa where EXPO '75 is open to the public until January, the $44 million structure stands two-stories high, measures 119-square yards wide and can be raised or lowered 50 feet by way of a sophisticated hull structure. Featured at EXPO also is the world's largest indoor aquarium (below) containing 13,400-cubic meters of seawater and maintained at the precise temperature its denizens are accustomed to.

+ Estimated Tax Amount
x $150 Sales Bonus

Properties not sold at Tuesday bid-openings are automatically deleted herefrom pending Period changes, price adjustments and other actions by HUD, and will be relisted in the earliest practicable Friday advertisement.

Bid openings will normally be held on Tuesdays unless a legal holiday falls thereon in which case bids will be opened the next day, Wednesday. Normal Monday deadlines will be changed to preceding Fridays when a legal holiday falls on Monday. Otherwise intervening holidays will have no effect on the ten-calendar- day offering periods.

As-is offerings are listed for sale "AS-IS" with no warranty, not eligible for FHA mortgage insurance, all cash. The provisions of paragraph 11 of the sales contract do not apply as to guarantee. These properties may or may not conform to code requirements. Selling brokers will orally inform purchasers of the foregoing prior to execution of sales contract. Prices are minimum acceptable subject to sealed bid procedure. Special provisions applicable to lead paint treatment will apply. $150 sales bonus applys to all as-is offerings. The right is reserved to hold as-is offers for a maximum of ten days from date of bid opening. Bid requirements will conform generally with those set out in Forms HUD-9662 and 9662-A as modified by this notice and copies of said forms are available upon request.

This listing represents a supplement to the monthly Public Information Release entitled "HUD-Acquired Properties Available for Sale or Rent" and is subject to the terms and conditions set out therein. Copies of said PIR are available upon request.

Properties not sold at Tuesday bid-openings are automatically deleted herefrom pending Period changes, price adjustments and other actions by HUD, and will be relisted in the earliest practicable Friday advertisement.

Bid openings will normally be held on Tuesdays unless a legal holiday falls thereon in which case bids will be opened the next day, Wednesday. Normal Monday deadlines will be changed to preceding Fridays when a legal holiday falls on Monday. Otherwise intervening holidays will have no effect on the ten-calendar-day offering periods.

As-is offerings are listed for sale "AS-IS" with no warranty, not eligible for FHA mortgage insurance, all cash. The provisions of paragraph 11 of the sales contract do not apply as to guarantee. These properties may or may not conform to code requirements. Selling brokers will orally inform purchasers of the foregoing prior to execution of sales contract. Prices are minimum acceptable subject to sealed bid procedure. Special provisions applicable to lead paint treatment will apply. $150 sales bonus applys to all as-is offerings. The right is reserved to hold as-is offers for a maximum of ten days from date of bid opening. Bid requirements will conform generally with those set out in Forms HUD-9662 and 9662-A as modified by this notice and copies of said forms are available upon request.

This listing represents a supplement to the monthly Public Information Release entitled "HUD-Acquired Properties Available for Sale or Rent" and is subject to the terms and conditions set out therein. Copies of said PIR are available upon request.

sard quoted Miss Hearst as saying. Mrs. Broussard, 23, who was being released on bail on a parole violation charge, said she talked with Miss Hearst while the latter was being booked.

Earlier, Miss Hearst, who faces both state and federal charges, smiled broadly and waved at reporters as she left the San Francisco federal courthouse in a tightly guarded caravan.

Mrs. Harris gave a clenched-fist salute as the car pulled away.

The Harrises were arrested about an hour before Miss Hearst and Berkeley artist Wendy Yoshimura, who was turned over to Alameda County, Calif., authorities to face a charge of possession of explosives.

Stephen F. Solinh, a 27-year old housepainter, also was arrested at the house where Miss Hearst was staying. The FBI said he would be charged with arboring fugitives. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning said more arrests on that charge might follow.

It appeared that the cross-country search for the only known surviving members of the SLA finally was ended by a combination of diligent police work and luck.

Paul Young, agent-in-charge of the FBI's Sacramento office, said his agents were seeking an unidentified person linked to the SLA and gave the San Francisco FBI addresses of several houses here.

Young said these included both a Bernal Heights house on Precita Street near where the Harrises were arrested while jogging down the street and the Upper Mission District house on Morse Street where Miss Hearst was captured.

"But we had no idea the Harrises and Miss Hearst were there," Young said.

Authorities said Soliah was the brother of Kathy Soliah, a known associate of SLA members.

Miss Soliah, who dropped from sight several months ago, had been a visitor to Miss Yoshimura's imprisoned boyfriend, and there was speculation that when Sacramento agents gave the the two addresses to San Francisco, they may have been seeking Soliah for questioning.

Charles Bates, special agent-in-charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, could not be reached for comment on Young's statement.

But Bates said that for about two days the FBI had been watching the house where the Harrises were caught.

"It was not a tip, just digging out people who might have information, on the periphery, building it up from that,' Bates said.

An FBI agent guarding the Morse Street house, who declined to give his name, said about 10 automatic weapons were found inside. San Francisco Police Inspector Gary Kern said authorities searching the Precita Street house found several automatic weapons, 40 pounds of explosives and two gas masks.

Miss Hearst was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Owen Woodruff on federal bank robbery charges, which carry a $500,000 bail, the same amount set for the federal firearms charge filed in Los Angeles.

Miss Hearst is also wanted by Los Angeles police on 19 state charges ranging from kidnap to armed robbery, charges carrying $50,000 bail.

The Harrises, still wearing jogging outfits, also appeared before Woodruff for a hearing on firearms charges. Harris, 30, was expelled from the courtroom when he gave a clenched fist salute and shouted, "This ain't no big deal, comrades. Long live the guerrilla!"

He and his wife, 28, were also sought by Los Angeles on 18 state charges.

Acting Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. John Howard said Miss Hearst and the Harrises would be taken to Los Angeles next week for arraignment on the state charges.

Miss Yoshimura, 32, had been sought by Alameda County authorities on charges of possessing explosives in connection with several bombings.

The whereabouts of the four fugitives had been a mystery for more than a year, with unconfirmed reports placing Miss Hearst at various times in Algeria, Latin America and most of the 50 states.

Federal authorities in Harrisburg, Pa., reported earlier this year that they had evidence that Miss Hearst had stayed at a Pennsylvania farmhouse for several weeks in the fall of 1974.

Miss Hearst was a sophomore at the University of California, living in a Berkeley apartment with her fiance, Steven Weed, when she was kidnaped at gunpoint by members of the the SLA.

Authorities have described the group as a small sect of white ex-college students led by black escaped convict Donald DeFreeze.

As a precondition for her release, the SLA demanded in a series of taped communiques that Hearst feed the poor to atone for his wealth. The Hearst family put together a $2 million "People in Need" giveaway program, but the SLA denounced it as a sham.

Miss Hearst, who at first sounded frightened in taped messages sent by her captors, stunned her parents on April 3, 1974, by announcing on a tape that she had renounced her family and joined the SLA.

She said she had changed her name to "Tania," after a figure from the Latin American guerrilla movement, and dramatized her conversion on April 15 by taking part in an armed SLA bank holdup here.

Her apparent fervor grew even stronger in a later message in which she denounced her father as a "pig" and scornfully rejected Weed.

Miss Hearst and the Harrises became the only SLA members known to be left at large when six of their comrades were killed in a fiery shootout with Los Angeles police on May 17, 1974.

Two died of gunshot wounds and four of burns and smoke inhalation when their hideout caught fire and burned during the gunfire.

Miss Hearst mourned their deaths in a final taped message June 7 — the last words heard from her until Thursday. She revealed her love for one SLA member who died on May 17, William Wolfe, 23, the son of a Pennsylvania doctor.

Kennett hosts Audubon group

KENNETT—The first fall program of the Bootheel Audubon Society will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Cotton Exchange Bank meeting room.

Anyone interested in conservation and the environment may attend the meeting, during which officers will be elected and plans made for the coming year. For further information, call telephone number 888-2109 or 222-6291.

Injunctiion obtained against Cape firm

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Missouri Clean Water Commission and the state attorney general's office have obtained a $1,000 penalty and a permanent injunction against Drury Development Corp. of Cape Girardeau for violation of the state clean water law.

In a consent judgment, the Cape Girardeau County circuit court assessed the penalty for failure to obtain a proper permit.

A consent judgment is one in which the court assesses a penalty in an amount agreed upon by the plaintiff and the defendant.

The Clean Water Commission filed charges against Drury Development when the corporation connected Drury Inn in Cape Girardeau to a sewage treatmen lagoon serving the Ramada Inn, also in Cape Giardeau, without obtaining the required permit.

Both the Drury and the Ramada inns are operated by Drury Development Corp.

The injunction prohibits the corporation from making further connections to the lagoon until a proper applicationfor a permit is made.

The penalty will go into the Cape Girardeau County local school fund.

Postal Service asks rate hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a letter is expected to increase from 10 to 13 cents after Christmas, but the Postal Service says it will still lose "hundreds of millions of dollars" this fiscal year.

The Postal Service filed for higher postal rates Thursday with the Postal Rate Commission. The commission is expected to spend at least a year considering the request, but in the meantime the Postal Service can put the higher rates into effect on a "temporary" basis 90 days after the filing.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has said the temporary rates will be put into effect shortly after Christmas.

Under the proposed rates, a first-class letter would cost 13 cents for the first ounce and 11 cents for each additional ounce. A postcard would go up from 7 to 10 cents.

Couple caught stealing

DEXTER — A man and his wife were caught stealing gasoline Thursday night on property owned by Earl Harper about two miles northwest of town, according to the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser said Ronald Tims, 20, and his wife, Frances Tims, 20, were apprehended by Harper Thursday night and are being charged with attempted theft of gasoline and as well as burglary and stealing in a separate case.

The burglary and stealing charges stem from a Sept. 13 break-in at the Larry Trammell home. A rifle taken from the Trammell home was found in the truck the couple was using when they were caught.

Mouser said Harper had been losing gasoline for several nights and was lying in wait with a shotgun Thursday night when the two attempted to take more gasoline.

CITY COURT

PORTAGEVILLE--Police Judge Taylor Noles Sr. this morning fined James Owens of Portageville $60 on charges of careless and reckless driving while drinking and driving without an operator's license.

Break-in investigated

CHARLESTON — A break-in and an attempted break-in reported Thursday are under investigation by Charleston police.

Police Chief Bob Ritchey said the home of William F. Hamilton, 504 S. Olive St., was entered sometime between 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Thursday. A screen door on the west side of the home was torn open and a screen was ripped on an unlocked window to get into the house.

The home was ransacked in an apparent search for money, but nothing was reported missing.

At 5:40 p.m. Thursday, Ellbush Oliver, 118 N. Elm. St., reported to police a latch on the screen door had been pried off in an apparently unsuccessful attempt to enter the home.

sard quoted Miss Hearst as saying. Mrs. Broussard, 23, who was being released on bail on a parole violation charge, said she talked with Miss Hearst while the latter was being booked.

Earlier, Miss Hearst, who faces both state and federal charges, smiled broadly and waved at reporters as she left the San Francisco federal courthouse in a tightly guarded caravan.

Mrs. Harris gave a clenched-fist salute as the car pulled away.

The Harrises were arrested about an hour before Miss Hearst and Berkeley artist Wendy Yoshimura, who was turned over to Alameda County, Calif., authorities to face a charge of possession of explosives.

Stephen F. Solinh, a 27-year old housepainter, also was arrested at the house where Miss Hearst was staying. The FBI said he would be charged with arboring fugitives. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning said more arrests on that charge might follow.

It appeared that the cross-country search for the only known surviving members of the SLA finally was ended by a combination of diligent police work and luck.

Paul Young, agent-in-charge of the FBI's Sacramento office, said his agents were seeking an unidentified person linked to the SLA and gave the San Francisco FBI addresses of several houses here.

Young said these included both a Bernal Heights house on Precita Street near where the Harrises were arrested while jogging down the street and the Upper Mission District house on Morse Street where Miss Hearst was captured.

"But we had no idea the Harrises and Miss Hearst were there," Young said.

Authorities said Soliah was the brother of Kathy Soliah, a known associate of SLA members.

Miss Soliah, who dropped from sight several months ago, had been a visitor to Miss Yoshimura's imprisoned boyfriend, and there was speculation that when Sacramento agents gave the the two addresses to San Francisco, they may have been seeking Soliah for questioning.

Charles Bates, special agent-in-charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, could not be reached for comment on Young's statement.

But Bates said that for about two days the FBI had been watching the house where the Harrises were caught.

"It was not a tip, just digging out people who might have information, on the periphery, building it up from that,' Bates said.

An FBI agent guarding the Morse Street house, who declined to give his name, said about 10 automatic weapons were found inside. San Francisco Police Inspector Gary Kern said authorities searching the Precita Street house found several automatic weapons, 40 pounds of explosives and two gas masks.

Miss Hearst was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Owen Woodruff on federal bank robbery charges, which carry a $500,000 bail, the same amount set for the federal firearms charge filed in Los Angeles.

Miss Hearst is also wanted by Los Angeles police on 19 state charges ranging from kidnap to armed robbery, charges carrying $50,000 bail.

The Harrises, still wearing jogging outfits, also appeared before Woodruff for a hearing on firearms charges. Harris, 30, was expelled from the courtroom when he gave a clenched fist salute and shouted, "This ain't no big deal, comrades. Long live the guerrilla!"

He and his wife, 28, were also sought by Los Angeles on 18 state charges.

Acting Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. John Howard said Miss Hearst and the Harrises would be taken to Los Angeles next week for arraignment on the state charges.

Miss Yoshimura, 32, had been sought by Alameda County authorities on charges of possessing explosives in connection with several bombings.

The whereabouts of the four fugitives had been a mystery for more than a year, with unconfirmed reports placing Miss Hearst at various times in Algeria, Latin America and most of the 50 states.

Federal authorities in Harrisburg, Pa., reported earlier this year that they had evidence that Miss Hearst had stayed at a Pennsylvania farmhouse for several weeks in the fall of 1974.

Miss Hearst was a sophomore at the University of California, living in a Berkeley apartment with her fiance, Steven Weed, when she was kidnaped at gunpoint by members of the the SLA.

Authorities have described the group as a small sect of white ex-college students led by black escaped convict Donald DeFreeze.

As a precondition for her release, the SLA demanded in a series of taped communiques that Hearst feed the poor to atone for his wealth. The Hearst family put together a $2 million "People in Need" giveaway program, but the SLA denounced it as a sham.

Miss Hearst, who at first sounded frightened in taped messages sent by her captors, stunned her parents on April 3, 1974, by announcing on a tape that she had renounced her family and joined the SLA.

She said she had changed her name to "Tania," after a figure from the Latin American guerrilla movement, and dramatized her conversion on April 15 by taking part in an armed SLA bank holdup here.

Her apparent fervor grew even stronger in a later message in which she denounced her father as a "pig" and scornfully rejected Weed.

Miss Hearst and the Harrises became the only SLA members known to be left at large when six of their comrades were killed in a fiery shootout with Los Angeles police on May 17, 1974.

Two died of gunshot wounds and four of burns and smoke inhalation when their hideout caught fire and burned during the gunfire.

Miss Hearst mourned their deaths in a final taped message June 7 — the last words heard from her until Thursday. She revealed her love for one SLA member who died on May 17, William Wolfe, 23, the son of a Pennsylvania doctor.

Injunctiion obtained against Cape firm

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Missouri Clean Water Commission and the state attorney general's office have obtained a $1,000 penalty and a permanent injunction against Drury Development Corp. of Cape Girardeau for violation of the state clean water law.

In a consent judgment, the Cape Girardeau County circuit court assessed the penalty for failure to obtain a proper permit.

A consent judgment is one in which the court assesses a penalty in an amount agreed upon by the plaintiff and the defendant.

The Clean Water Commission filed charges against Drury Development when the corporation connected Drury Inn in Cape Girardeau to a sewage treatmen lagoon serving the Ramada Inn, also in Cape Giardeau, without obtaining the required permit.

Both the Drury and the Ramada inns are operated by Drury Development Corp.

The injunction prohibits the corporation from making further connections to the lagoon until a proper applicationfor a permit is made.

The penalty will go into the Cape Girardeau County local school fund.

Break-in investigated

CHARLESTON — A break-in and an attempted break-in reported Thursday are under investigation by Charleston police.

Police Chief Bob Ritchey said the home of William F. Hamilton, 504 S. Olive St., was entered sometime between 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Thursday. A screen door on the west side of the home was torn open and a screen was ripped on an unlocked window to get into the house.

The home was ransacked in an apparent search for money, but nothing was reported missing.

At 5:40 p.m. Thursday, Ellbush Oliver, 118 N. Elm. St., reported to police a latch on the screen door had been pried off in an apparently unsuccessful attempt to enter the home.

Postal Service asks rate hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of mailing a letter is expected to increase from 10 to 13 cents after Christmas, but the Postal Service says it will still lose "hundreds of millions of dollars" this fiscal year.

The Postal Service filed for higher postal rates Thursday with the Postal Rate Commission. The commission is expected to spend at least a year considering the request, but in the meantime the Postal Service can put the higher rates into effect on a "temporary" basis 90 days after the filing.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has said the temporary rates will be put into effect shortly after Christmas.

Under the proposed rates, a first-class letter would cost 13 cents for the first ounce and 11 cents for each additional ounce. A postcard would go up from 7 to 10 cents.

Couple caught stealing

DEXTER — A man and his wife were caught stealing gasoline Thursday night on property owned by Earl Harper about two miles northwest of town, according to the Stoddard County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Ralph Mouser said Ronald Tims, 20, and his wife, Frances Tims, 20, were apprehended by Harper Thursday night and are being charged with attempted theft of gasoline and as well as burglary and stealing in a separate case.

The burglary and stealing charges stem from a Sept. 13 break-in at the Larry Trammell home. A rifle taken from the Trammell home was found in the truck the couple was using when they were caught.

Mouser said Harper had been losing gasoline for several nights and was lying in wait with a shotgun Thursday night when the two attempted to take more gasoline.
